Ashbrook Considers New Congress Race

STUDIES PLAN TO RUN FOR REGULAR TERM

Says He'll Make Decision at Meeting With Democratic Leaders Tuesday.

M'GREGOR TO FILE TODAY

Political Leaders Awaiting Donahey's Announcement On His Intentions.

Another congressional contest between J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette Republican, and Byron B. Ashbrook, Democrat, of Johnstown loomed today for next November as Ashbrook, defeated by McGregor in a special election last Tuesday, announced he is considering running for the regular term in congress from the 17th district.

Reversing his primary statement that he was interested only in serving out the unexpired term of his uncle, the late Congressman William A. Ashbrook, the Johnstown banker said he would announce his decision next Tuesday at a meeting of state Democratic leaders in Columbus.

McGregor, who will be sworn in as a member of congress Tuesday noon, was expected to file his nominating petitions today with the Richland county board of elections. He has announced he will be a candidate himself in the regular term beginning next January.

"I do not intend to make any decision regarding my own plans until we have had an opportunity to discuss the 17th district situation," Ashbrook said, referring to the proposed meeting Tuesday.

Last By 4,500 Votes

McGregor defeated Ashbrook by 4,512 votes in the special 17th district election last Tuesday, winning five of the six counties in the district.

Both McGregor and Ashbrook must win their party nominations at the May 14 primary, however, to face each other again in the general election next fall.

So far no other congressional candidates have announced in

Mob Leader Lepke Convicted, Faces Life Term In Pen

NEW YORK. — (UP) — Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, mob leader who specialized in industrial rackets, was found guilty on 15 counts of extortion in the trucking and baking businesses early today. A life sentence is mandatory, because he is a fourth offender.

The conviction was a triumph for District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey in his competition with the federal government for meting out punishment to Buchalter. A federal court sentenced him to only 14 years imprisonment for directing a $10,000,000-a year narcotic ring.

The government, however, gets first call on him and the better 14 years of his life. He will begin his state sentence when and if he survives the federal one.

Max Silverman, a co-defendant, was found guilty on all counts and faces a 15 to 30 year sentence, and Silverman's son, Harold, was convicted on seven counts carrying a 15-year maximum. They will be sentenced March 18.

County, Subdivisions Cut Debt While Federal Deficit Soars.

The national debt may be mounting, but Richland county and its subdivisions reduced their debts by $337,491 in 1939. They now owe $2,977,608 as compared with $3,315,099 on Jan 1, last year.

Heading the list in slashing its obligations last year was the county government which paid off $112,880 and cleared the way for retiring its entire operating debt by the end of 1940.

At the close of the year the county will still owe about $30,000, but the debt will represent relief bonds which, under the state law, cannot be paid until 1944 During the year the county will pay off its entire operating debt of $21,100.

Only the townships as a group increased their indebtedness in 1939. At the close of the year they owed $43,104, an increase of $6,195 over the preceding year.

The county's villages dropped their debt obligations from $119,120 to $113,000 during the year.

Bearing the heaviest burdens are the Mansfield and Shelby school districts which owe a total of $1,206,127, a reduction of $79,000 for the year. Their total debt includes $550,000 in bonds issued in 1938 to finance the Mansfield building program.

Despite the difference in their populations, Mansfield and Shelby are in debt to about the same extent. Mansfield owes $597,775 and Shelby $537,605. Mansfield cut its debt $84,475 last year while Shelby was paying off $34,090 of its bonds. A large part of the Shelby debt is for city-owned utilities

Indebtedness of the county's rural schools dropped $27,121 during the year to $422,346.

BLAZE KILLS 5

4 Women, Man Perish as Fire Destroys Apartment.

WORCESTER, Mass. — (AP) — Four women and a man perished early today in a three-alarm blaze which destroyed a five-story apartment building in the heart of the city.

Firemen struggled for two hours before bringing the gushing flames under cntrol and it was not until almost 4 a. m. (E.S.T.) that the bodies of the dead could be taken from the top floor. A few moments later the roof collapsed.

At City hospital, the bodies, burned almost beyond recognition, were identified as the Misses Tora A., Jean E., and Rena D. Nordstrom, sisters who were widely known in central Massachusetts as musicians; Miss Anna H. Hydock and George D. Thompson, a Worcester restaurant proprietor.

DOGS POISONED

Cleveland Heights Pets Die, Police Search For Suspect.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Dog owners in Cleveland Heights kept careful watch over their pets today as the total of poisonings mounted to seven, with three deaths.

Police investigating were unable to name a suspect, although veterinarians to whom the dogs were taken said there was no doubt they were poisoned. The poisonings all have centered in the sector around the suburb's city hall.

FATHER DIES

Helen Hayes Cancels Show To Leave For Funeral.

PEARSON, Md.—(AP)—Frank V. Brown, 66, whose daughter, Helen Brown, became Helen Hayes, one of the foremost actresses of the American stage, died at his home here late yesterday after a long illness.

The actress left Cincinnati early today by airplane to attend the funeral services. Today's matinee and evening performances of the play in which the actress is appearing in Cincinnati were cancelled.

Chief to Quiz Youth In Mystery Explosion

Seeburger Pushes Inquiry as Victim Improves After Blood-Transfusion; Condition Still Critical.

While 19-year-old David Nelson, 26 Prescott street, seriously burned in an explosion Thursday night was reported slightly improved at General hospital today, Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger pushed his investigation to determine the cause of the blast which wrecked the second floor of the north side residence

Seeburger said he planned to question young Nelson as soon as his condition permits concerning the explosion which he said occurred under mysterious circumstances.

Gas company employes, the chief said, inspected the gas pipes in the house following the blast and reported that there were no leaks in the system.

He said he was particularly interested in learning how long the youth had been upstairs before the blast.

A gas pipe tightly capped was in the boy's bedroom and a pipe wrench was lying on the bed, Seeburger said.

Wrench cuts on the cap showed that it had either been removed or tightened.

Nelson was badly burned about the face, neck, arms and hands when an explosion which was heard for blocks occurred in his bedroom. Fire which broke out in the upper portion of the house was extinguished by firemen.

A physician reported today that the boy had been given a blood transfusion last night and that his condition was "somewhat improved." He said, however, that he was still in a critical condition.

TEACHER KILLED

Companion Hurt When Auto Strikes Bridge.

FINDLAY—(AP)— Miss Virginia Pendleton, 23-year-old Carey grade school teacher, was killed and her companion, Arthur Wayne of Carey, injured last night in the crash of their automobile against a bridge on route 23 five miles from Upper Sandusky.

UP $1,500,000

February Bank Clearings Far Ahead of Same Month In '39.

Mansfield bank clearings were still on the upward trend in February, showing a gain of $1,510,733 over the same month last year, Barney Burns, secretary of the Clearing House association, reported today.

February clearings, totaling $7,355,335, boosted figures for the first two months of the year to $15,273,942, an increase of 20 per cent over the same months of 1939.

The clearings for February last year amounted to $5,844,602, marking it as the poorest month of the year from the standpoint of currency handled by the city's four banks. Despite the marked gain last month, February clearings were $563,000 behind the total for January, 1940, the report showed.

FEARS ABATING

California Flood Threats Dwindle, Crest 80 Miles From Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO.—(UP)—The crest of the raging Sacramento river, which had spread misery over 100,000 acres, was more than 80 miles from San Francisco bay today, but its flood threat dwindled as it approached a trap of sloughs and by passes.

From Knight's Landing to Sacramento, conditions still were dangerous and levees closely guarded.

NEW ICE STORM THREATENS AREA

Rain and Freezing Temperatures Forecast for Tonight; City Skids All Morning.

The Mansfield area, already sheathed in thin ice, was threatened with another disastrous ice storm today as the weatherman forecast freezing rain this afternoon and tonight.

Streets and highways in the city area were glazed with ice early this morning when a light rain froze as it fell. As the rain became heavier, however, the ice loosened slightly and driving conditions improved.

A drop in temperature would be certain to increase the ice hazard while a turn to warmer weather would probably bring heavier rain to wash away the ice coating.

The weather forecast called for slightly higher temperature tonight and colder again Sunday. The mercury hovered around the freezing mark this morning after reaching a low of 29 degrees early today. Yesterday's high was 41.

EX-GOVERNOR SENT TO JAIL

Reily Who Once Served In Puerto Rico, Sentenced.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—E. Mont Reily, former Republican governor of Puerto Rico who was indicted following an investigation of the activities of Tom Pendergast's Democratic machine, was convicted of possessing a forged instrument and sentenced to six months in jail.

The sentence fixed by the jury was the lowest possible on the charge.

The indictment charged Reily forged an endorsement on a street cleaning warrant and then cashed it. He was free on bond pending an appeal.

"POLISH RELIEF DAY"

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Governor Bricker today designated Sunday as Polish relief day in Ohio. He said he wished to call attention of Ohioans to the suffering of the Polish people and to provide an opportunity to contribute to the Polish relief fund.

FIND BONES OF 5 HUMANS ON MOUNTAIN TOP

STIRS CLEVELAND POLICE

Discovery Leads to New Check In Kingsbury Run Murders In Lake City.

(By United Press)

RICHWOOD, W. Va.—Dr. Edward Echels of the Richwood hospital said today that 90 bones found in a cardboard box on a mountain top 25 miles from here were parts of "at least four and possibly five human skeletons, and it is the work of a fiend or a grave robber."

Cleveland police were in communication with West Virginia state police checking several phases of the mystery that corresponded with the work of that city's so-called "mad butcher of Kingsbury Run," who is blamed for the murder of 13 persons there since 1934.

The box, now en route to the state police laboratories at Charleston, W. Va., was found a week ago by Fred Carpenter, a WPA worker, on Powell mountain.

Dr. Echels could not make up his mind how long the bones had been there. He said, "it appeared that the flesh had recently been stripped away," but that "mountaineer folk told me there was unusually heavy fights of buzzards in the vicinity of the peak last fall," and that the bones might have been preserved by the cold weather all winter.

Some Burned.

Some of the bones had been burned and Dr. Echels said "there might have been an attempt to destroy them."

No persons have been reported unaccountably missing from the Nicholas county or the surrounding area all winter and the mystery stirred up memories of a similar one at Summerville, the county seat, four years ago, when the bones of two persons and a dog were found under a rock quarry. That mystery remains unsolved.

The similarity to the Cleveland murders included the fact that the 13 bodies there were found in fragments; the last two, on the same day last year, in packages similar to the package found on the mountain here.

GIRL 'BANDITS'

Young 'Racketeeresses' Waylayed Children, Took Pennies.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — (AP) — Deputy Police Chief John P. Fleming said today three youthful "racketeeresses," whose practice it was to waylay smaller children and rob them of pennies, would be held for action of the juvenile court.

The three girls, ranging in age from 11 to 15 years, were arrested yesterday and Fleming said they had obtained $1.26 in pennies and nickels by hiding in secluded downtown spots and jumping out at younger children on their way to or from school.

Watch Sunday News-Journal for Cage Scores

Watch the Sunday edition of The News-Journal for late scores of district basketball tournament games being played tonight!

Among the teams in action are the Mansfield Tygers, who open their defense of the district title against Sandusky in the the Sandusky gym. A detailed story of this game will appear in The News-Journal.

The county's Class B representatives in the Carey elimination, Bellville and Lexington, are also scheduled. Bellville meets Ada and Lexington engages Fostoria St. Wendelin. Reports of other tournaments will appear in the Sunday issue as well as Big Ten games.

Questions U. S. Neutrality In Talk to Welles

Chancellor Reported to Have Told U. S. Envoy That World May Have Peace Only on Germany's Terms Conference Lasts Hour and Half.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler told American Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles today that th world may have peace on Germany's terms and was reported to have questioned the neutrality of the United States.

Well informed German quarters said that a considerable part of their discussion which lasted an hour and a half was devoted to German-American relations and that as result the respective ambassadorial posts in Berlin and Washington may be reoccupied.

Both ambassadors were recalled last spring, the official reasons being for consultation at home. Neither has returned.

Reliable informants said that during the conference Hitler told Welles that any European peace must be based substantially on Germany's acquisitions and a recognition of Germany's "natural" spheres of interest in central Europe.

Hitler was said to have taken the initiative regarding the attitude of the United States, asking Welles a number of pointed questions regarding the American attitude and its alleged Allied sympathies.

Hitler was reported to have said that in his view the United States was not following a strictly neutral course and as result Germany found herself in a position where she must be wary of all democracies.

Reliable informants said also that Hitler gave Welles almost no hope that Germany might plan any direct role in mediation between Russia and Finland because of Germany's reliance on Russian supplies in a probably long war.

Welles, President Roosevelt's special envoy to Europe, listened almost all the time during a conference with Hitler of nearly an hour and a half, it was said.

Hitler's tone was stern, informants said, in picturing an intensified war for which Germany was fully prepared, and indicating a belief that no basis for peace existed because Britain meant to crush the German nation and people.

He was represented as having told Welles that Germany was fighting to provide a stable basis for peace in Europe and to release the world from the "imperialistic grip" of Britain. He added, informants said, that the United States apparently failed to understand this.

A considerable part of Hitler's statement consisted of an attack on Britain, it was said, and he paid

HELSINKI: Reds Batter at Viipuri; Report City In Flames

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Red army hammered loudly today at the gates of Viipuri, with battle raging in the outskirts of that shell-ravaged city which is the key to the Karelian isthmus.

(A Soviet communique said the Finns were burning the city as they fell back and that the Russians already were in the southern suburbs.)

The Finns themselves acknowledged that after three months of war, including a month of sustained assault against this objective, the Russians were moving on Viipuri from the south and east by land and from the southwest over the island-dotted ice of Viipuri bay.

Russian losses continued to be heavy, the Finns said, in fighting along the entire isthmus front from the edge of Viipuri on the west to the fortress of Taipale on the east. Taipale, on the Lake Ladoga shore, is holding fast despite one of the war's heaviest aerial bombardments, they said.

An official Finnish review for February of the Russian invasion,

SEA WAR: Nazi Sub Attacks, British Raid In American Waters

BULLETIN

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—(U.P.)—The newspaper Tribuna Popular, in a special dispatch from Rio Grande, said today that "It is reported without confirmation that a naval battle involving three British cruisers and six large German submarines is developing 200 miles from Cape Polonia."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The navy was advised today that naval planes had located the British steamer Southgate, which reported a submarine attack yesterday, and said the vessel was in no apparent danger.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A dynamic game of hide-and-seek between war ships of warring nations apparently had been touched off today in American waters by near-simultaneous reports of a submarine attack on a British freighter near Puerto Rico and a British interception of a Nazi cargo carrier.

From the S. S. Southgate, a 1,862-ton vessel flying the Union Jack, came this ominous message last night:

"Attacked by submarine."

After that nothing but silence, just as ominous.

Three hours later came word that the German freighter Troja, 2,390 tons, was in flames off Aruba, famous oil refinery island of the Dutch West Indies, cut off by a British cruiser while attempting to run the British blockade. In the Nazi tradition, her crew fired her rather than surrender.

The submarine attack report sent the United States into action. The coast guard cutter Unalga, based at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and three speedy destroyers—the McLeish, Satterlee and Mason—headed for the scene, about 130 miles northeast of Puerto Rico and 1,100 miles southeast of Miami.

Berlin and London authorities would not comment on the reports.

These new instances of warfare within the American neutrality zone came after weeks of recurring reports from European and South American sources that war vessels of both sides in the European conflict—Nazi U-boats on the one hand and British cruisers on the other—were operating on this side of the Atlantic.

At least five submarines capable of trans-Atlantic cruising, these sources declared, had slipped through Britain's European blockade.

New Sunday Feature Hit for You!

MAYBE you don't believe it if your car skidded across seven street intersections on the way to work this morning, but there's romance in Mansfield's workday life. Jane Williams, News-Journal feature writer, proves it in Sunday's edition with the first of a series of stories on—

WHAT MANSFIELD MAKES

The romance we're talking about concerns the daily tasks of more than 10,000 people who work in the city's 72 industries. The first article touches the liking of people in Portugal for bright colored seat covers and two Mansfield men who got their start by making better corn husk mattresses than anybody else. You'll find the story in the Sunday edition of The News-Journal.

TOOTS, THAT'S WONDERFUL I NEVER DREAMT YOU COULD SAVE ME THAT MUCH!
NOT SAVE! I MEAN $500.00 MORE! I DIDN'T HAVE THE HEART TO CUT THE MEN'S SALARIES. THEY ALL HAVE OBLIGATIONS--PAYING ON HOMES OR SUMPN', SO I RAISED ALL OF THEIR SALARIES TO HELP THEM OUT!
JIMMY MURPHY
YOU RAISED ALL OF MY EMPLOYEES' SALARIES? WELL, I'LL SOON CHANGE THAT!
YOU CAN'T, BOSS! I TOLD THEM IT WAS A BIRTHDAY PRESENT FROM YOU! HEAR THEM OUT THERE CHEERING YOU?
CASPER, GET YOUR WIFE OUT OF THIS OFFICE BEFORE SHE BANKRUPTS ME.
SHE WON'T QUIT! SHE LIKES HER JOB AS EFFICIENCY EXPERT TOO WELL BUT I'VE AN IDEA-
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
CASPER, YOU SAY AN EFFICIENCY EXPERT CAN ONLY HOLD THE SAME JOB FOR ONE WEEK?
THAT'S RIGHT, TOOTS! IT'S SORT OF AN UNWRITTEN LAW! NOW GET YOUR WEEK'S SALARY AND LET'S GO!
I'M GLAD MY JOB'S OVER! I DIDN'T LIKE WORKING FOR YOUR BOSS! I'M USED TO GIVING ORDERS--NOT TAKING THEM!

$30 Weekly Pension Plan Offered to Ohio's Voters

'HAM 'N' EGGS' IDEA STARTS TO PAY AT 57

Leader Declares Proposal Would Cost Not More Than 75 Millions a Year.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — The people of Ohio, who rejected the $60-per-month Bigelow pension plan, today were offered a headier dish modeled after California's "ham and eggs," or "$30 every Thursday" scheme.

Sponsored by the Pension Action bureau, which apparently is E. L. Lansing, a rotund grey man peering out from behind grey glasses, the Ohio plan would pay $30 per week in state warrants to oldsters, but not necessarily on Thursday.

Under the plan the warrants would be given persons over 57 years of age not gainfully employed. The warrants, Lansing explained today, would be self-liquidating through two per cent stamps to be affixed to each warrant each week.

Thus one dollar warrant would accumulate $1.04 in stamps in a year's time. The four cents would be for administrative expense. The plan, Lansing said, would not cost more than $75,000,000 per year. He did not reveal how he arrived at this figure.

"If any economist can sit down and tell me why the plan isn't sound, I would be glad to give it up," he said. "The newspapers will say that it will ruin the state. We don't want to ruin the state. If anyone demonstrates to me that the plan will ruin the state, I hold enough influence with the bureau to hamper the movement seriously."

The Pension Action bureau differs from the defeated California plan in several ways. In the first place it seeks no publicity and has no high powered organization. Headquarters is a small office, third floor back, in a Cleveland office building.

Also, the plan differs from the rejected California scheme in that no great powers are to be conferred on the administrator and no large organization is planned.

"That was a mistake they made in California," Lansing asserted. "We will have only an administrator elected in the regular elections. He will not have extraordinary power."

At any rate, a first batch of 5,000 petitions is being printed for distribution to some 30 Pension Action bureau clubs, eleven of which are in Cleveland. Club members will circulate the petitions, with no fanfare, although:

"We do have some speakers who are willing to be called screwballs," Lansing admitted.

JIMMY TO PAY

He'll Give Betsey Cushing $115,000 In Divorce Pact.

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Under a divorce settlement Betsey Cushing Roosevelt will receive $115,000 from James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president.

A default decree is scheduled to be entered in Judge Thomas C. Gould's court next Monday. It might have been recorded yesterday but for the sudden illness of Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, Howard K. Cushing, who was to have been her corroborating witness. After accompanying her here from the east he was stricken with influenza.

Mrs. Roosevelt told the court her movie producer-husband had first asked her for a divorce in Washington almost two years ago.

Under terms of the settlement introduced in court it was disclosed that Mrs. Roosevelt received a flat sum of $65,000 yesterday, with a check of $50,000 more five years hence or $5,000 annually until she remarries. She agreed, in return, not to ask for alimony.

Mansfield philatelists who have been rushing postal employes for the new "Famous American" series stamps will get a short breather before the third group—that of educators — becomes available. Postmaster Herman E. Homberger said the Horace Mann 1-cent green and the Mark Hopkins 2-cent red stamps will go on sale March 15. The Charles Eliot 3-cent purple and the Frances Willard 5-cent blue stamps will make their official appearance on March 29 while the Booker T. Washington 10-cent brown stamps will be released April 8.

As usual the "home town boys"—Ray and Trent—are getting "rave notices" in Cleveland papers, anent their appearance at the Palace theater. They opened there yesterday for a week's engagement and are on the same bill with Eddie Duchin with whom they have appeared on several tours. Just back from a winter engagement in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the two Mansfielders are on a tour of American cities. Today's notices in the Cleveland papers label the two acrobats "close to the best in the business."

Mansfield's two new junior high schools and W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, rated considerable space in "The Gist," a paper published at the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators in St. Louis this week. The four-page paper carried a picture of Miller and told of his career as an Ohio school man and the dedication of the new Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson schools this month. Miller returned with his family last night from St. Louis where he attended the national meeting.

If determination means anything, Bob Keefe, young Mansfield table tennis star, will be a winner in the Great Lakes tournament in Toledo today. Young Keefe worked from 10 p. m. yesterday until 10 a. m. at a Mansfield plant to make up any time he may lose by playing in the tournament, caught a tram a few minutes after quitting work and was to meet his first opponent at 2 p. m. If he wins his first match, he will play again today. So it was a question when he would be able to take a nap.

STRIKES TRAIN

Truck Skids Into Freight Near Bellville, Driver Unhurt.

Lewis V. Kemp, 22, of 255 Park avenue east, escaped injuries at 6 p. m. yesterday when his truck struck a B. & O. freight train on route 13 at the north edge of Bellville.

Kemp, traveling north, struck the fifty car of a 30-car freight train, going east, highway patrolmen said, damaging the front end of the truck.

He told patrolmen that he saw the train as he approached the crossing and applied his brakes but they failed to hold. The right front end of his truck struck the freight train.

Another Mansfielder, Richard Pittenger, 23, of 85 Vennum avenue received minor cuts about the face when the car he was driving, struck the rear end of a Commercial tractor and trailer at 2 a. m. today on route 42, two miles north of Mansfield, patrolmen reported. The truck was driven by Leonard B. McMasters, 29, of Akron.

EMPLOYMENT IN AREA HOLDS UP

But Payrolls Show Decline In Current Recession, Federal Reserve Says.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The federal reserve bank said today employment is holding up better than payrolls in the current business decline.

Production schedules in many plants are being maintained at a higher level than incoming orders, the bank said in its monthly survey of Ohio, western Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky and the West Virginia panhandle.

"With steel and its products so important to many areas of this district and with the contraction x x x greater than in other parts of the country, the falling-off has been especially noticeable, for generally at this season steel mill operations are expanding," the bank reported.

"Toward the end of February production in some centers did turn up very slightly, but the gains were not up to the seasonal trend of past years."

In other lines "such as machine tools, electrical equipment, rubber, glass, clothing and shoes, production in January and early February was holding up quite well in relation to December, and much above last year at that time."

Wholesale and retail sales at 211 stores in the fourth federal reserve district in January were 13.2 per cent above last year, and stocks of goods 9.7 per cent higher. Bank debits (volume of individual checking account transactions) this year to Feb. 21 were 14.4 per cent higher than the comparable 1939 period.

Long Acts to Curb Powers of Office Before He Leaves

BATON ROUGE, La. — (INS) — Defeated at the polls, Gov. Earl K. Long today strove to muster a legislative quorum to strip his own office of much of its power before he leaves it.

The governor failed in his first effort to bring the legislators together for action yesterday afternoon, but immediately issued another proclamation ordering the solons to convene this morning.

Before the legislators for passage when they meet will be measures to repeal laws which entrenched the dictatorship of the present governor's brother, the late Huey Long.

Gov. Long also has recommended a $2,000,000 program for free school lunches, a state bank to aid farmers and other appropriations, the proceeds of which would be [illegible] successor Sam Houston [illegible]

James 42-year-old Lake Charles attorney, defeated Long in the Democratic run-off primary, tantamount to election, in what was regarded as the fall of the dictatorship set up by Huey Long 12 years ago. Jones will take office May 14.

STALIN SPIKES RUMOR

MOSCOW—(INS)—Soviet Dictator Joseph Stalin today attended a performance of the Moscow ballet in a effort to help spike reports from foreign sources that he was seriously ill.

TRAFFIC TAGS FLY DESPITE COLD AS 412 ARE CITED IN FEBRUARY

Despite the extremely cold weather and hazardous driving conditions during February, the police department's campaign against overtime parking showed a decided pickup over January.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates' monthly report today revealed that a total of 412 tickets were issued last month as compared with 310 in January. This was a drop of 37, however, from the 449 tickets issued in February, 1939.

Collections from the tickets jumped accordingly from $325 in January to $425 last month.

Bates' report showed a corresponding decrease in the number of accidents reported to the police department. A total of 132 automobile crashes were recorded in the city during February as against 149 the previous month.

There were 10 injured as compared with 12 in January.

Police made two arrests each for careless and reckless driving and drunken driving during the month.

During the month a total of 69 were arrested of which seven were women. Twenty-five were arrested on charges of intoxication while the second highest number was for investigation. 11 persons being picked up for questioning and were either released or charged.

SECOND TO DIE

Millersburg Insurance Man Stricken Today.

MILLERSBURG — George H. Lange, 57, junior partner in the Cary and Lang Insurance agency, died at Pomerene Memorial hospital this morning after a short illness, following his senior partner, H. W. Cary, who died two weeks ago.

Mr. Lange was born in this city Sept. 22, 1882, and had spent his entire life here.

He was active in the Church of Christ, where he had been Sunday school superintendent for more than 25 years, and held a number of church offices. He was a Rotarian and held office in two Masonic lodges. For a number of years he had been director of the Red Cross Roll Call in Millersburg and the township.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Virginia Reynolds Lange, his mother, Mrs. Lena Lange, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Lawhead of this city.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed today.

FIREMEN PROBE RUINS TO FIND CAUSE OF FIRE

Three Firemen Overcome by Smoke as Flames Cause $300,000 Damage.

(By United Press)

DAYTON — Fire inspectors began an investigation today to determine the source of a fire that caused $300,000 damage in the five-story Kuhn's office building, a brick structure in the heart of Dayton's business section.

The fire was discovered in the basement of the Spencer Jewelry company late yesterday, and swept through the lower floors of the building before it was brought under control after two hours' battling by firemen.

Six women employes of the Adeline Ladies' shop located in the building were rescued by firemen, who carried them down ladders. Three members of the fire companies were treated at a hospital for slight injuries and the effects of inhaling smoke.

Fire Inspector R. F. Kurfiss and Deputy State Fire Marshal Joseph Ross were cooperating in an effort to determine the cause of the blaze.

Greatest damage was done to stock of the jewelry firm whose loss was estimated at $100,000. Other estimated losses were: Roositer and Jarrett Furniture company, $4,000; Green's Five and Ten Cent store, $20,000; Adeline Ladies' shop, $15,000.

One hundred and eighty five employes of the Federal Soil Conservation service with offices on the second floor of the building had left for the day shortly before the fire started.

A crowd estimated at 25,000 persons, attracted to the scene caused police difficulty in straightening out a traffic snarl.

UPHOLDS DAM

Appeals Court Rules Railroad Can Keep Water Supply.

Reversing a common pleas court decision, the Fifth district appeals court today had ruled that the Pennsylvania Railroad company does not have to remove a water supply dam from a small creek east of Mansfield.

The appeals court decision was handed down in a case brought against the railroad company by Jacob Leuthner, owner of a farm in Madison township, who contended that the dam caused Bentley's Run to flood his land.

The appeals court held that the dam was not the cause of the flooding of Leuthner's property. It was recommended that the railroad company clean the channel of the stream. The dam backs up a water supply for locomotives.

The railroad company appealed the case after Leuthner won an order last October in common pleas court requiring the defendant to remove the dam.

SHILOH NATIVE TAKEN BY DEATH

Wilbur B. Nothacker, 70, Stricken In Columbus Friday.

Funeral services will be held in Lancaster Tuesday for Wilbur B. Nothacker, 70, a former city official, who died yesterday in Columbus, where he had lived for the past 17 years.

Mr. Nothacker was a native of Shiloh. He had served as city auditor, council clerk and safety director in Lancaster, where he learned the printing trade on the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette. Later he operated a news store in Lancaster. He had been employed in Columbus as a linotype operator.

Surviving are his widow, Harriet, and a son, W. Flowers Nothacker of Alameda, Cal.

188 GET TAGS ON OPENING DAY

Sale of 1940 License Slightly Ahead of Same Day Last Year.

After getting off to a slow start yesterday morning, the sale of 1940 license plates at the Richland County Auto club reported in the afternoon with the result that 30 more plates were sold yesterday than on opening day a year ago.

Jack Berger, assistant secretary at the club, said 188 passenger car plates were sold yesterday as compared with 156 on the first day last year.

Although there were no figures available, Berger reported today that clerks were kept busy throughout the morning. Club offices will remain open until 5 p. m. today and will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. from now until April 1.

Not That It Matters

Looking Back Over Special Election Campaign and at An Early Classic of Films

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE CLAIM of Democratic leaders that the elections in the 17th and 22nd Ohio congressional districts are not indicative of the trend of the national elections has some basis.

Certainly candidates were never more handicapped than the two Democrats defeated this week. Ashbrook, a babe in the political woods, was illy advised on every step of his campaign. Or rather, he chose to accept the bad advice and ignored the very sound advice which I know he received.

His first big mistake was overplaying the Ashbrook name; the second was bringing in a Washington whip-man to conduct his campaign (the home folks always resent having an outsider tell them how to vote); the third was the attempt to bulldoze all of the old age pensioners into voting for Ashbrook; and lastly, but greatest of all, was the Davey Disaster.

Because the ex-governor is, and always will be, political disaster for anyone associated with him. Not only is his own political record an insurmountable handicap, but his type of campaigning — a complete disregard for truth—is as passe as torchlight processions.

If Ashbrook had stood on his own feet, had accepted the advice of the more conservative party workers, he might have given McGregor a better battle.

THE census questions which are arousing a storm of criticism over the country are personal, some of them insufferable, and just one more evidence that government leaders are fascinated by the hold that Hitler and Stalin have over their people.

The questions will not be asked by strangers but by people in your own home town who may dislike you because you have more than they, because you part your hair on the side, because your politics are different, and your family secrets will be meat for inquisitive and curious friends of the census takers.

Everywhere editors and women's clubs are pointing out the fact that while a jail sentence is provided for those who refuse to answer questions, no one has ever been jailed for refusing. And if every woman in a city refused to answer the personal questions, there would be no prosecution—or rather persecution.

And right now I'm serving notice that I'll not answer any of the strictly personal questions that are none of the New Deal's damn business—so I may be seeing you in jail any time after April 1.

"GOD Is Our Ally," cried Mr. Hitler in his pep speech last Saturday night, "and He will not drop us now."

How many of you oldsters remember when the parlor elocutionists used to recite "Me, Myself—unt Gott"? It was a poem about Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and his proud boast that he and God (God was secondary) could do anything, could conquer the world. It was written years before any one dreamed of the World war.

The Woodchopper of Doorn, whom the world remembers only occasionally as the former kaiser, must sometimes wonder what happened to that partnership of "Me unt Gott." Neither Adolf nor Wilhelm seem to realize that God is sort of a universal figure and not the exclusive property of the German war lords.

OPEN letter to Service Director Crafton: Dear C. M., when you are re-routing traffic because of the West Fourth paving project, will you please remember that West Fifth and Third streets were not built for inter-state and heavy truck traffic, and that such traffic will break up these streets and they must be re-paved largely at the expense of property owners? And that, on the other hand, route 30-S is a national and state route, built for heavy traffic and when it goes bad federal and state funds will pay for most of the re-surfacing work? Besides, route 30-S is the logical, as well as legitimate, detour for route 30-N traffic during the project. Sincerely yours, A Property Owner.

ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHN says that "Gone With the Wind" was not so great a picture as "Birth of a Nation," because when audiences saw the latter there were fights, arguments, bitter feelings and oceans of tears.

Mrs. St. John's criticism is naive, for she is entirely discounting the present day sophistication of movie audiences. "Birth of a Nation" was made when the picture industry was a pup and you and I were young movie fans, Maggie.

When I saw "Birth of a Nation" I cried so hard the tears soaked my camisole and shirt—"vest" to the prissies—but if I saw the same picture today, there wouldn't be a single pulse-jump. It was a great picture in its day, but it wouldn't be one-two-three today.

FOR once agreed with the Academy on best performance awards. Because both Vivien Leigh's Scarlett and Robert Donat's Mr. Chips were characters that were entirely outside the player's personal sphere. James Stewart's Mr. Smith was great because of its sincerity, but there was no complete submerging of Mr. Stewart in the role. He was still Jimmy Stewart doing a swell bit of acting. But Donat, the actor, was lost and submerged in the old school teacher. Miss Leigh made you forget she was an English actress and convinced you she was a Southern belle of the Civil war period.

If I had any quarrel at all with the awards it would be in favor of Bette Davis' "Old Maid."

FAIR ENOUGH

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I want to put my finger on the fraud in the contention that the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. are voluntary associations. It is true that their component or subsidiary organizations adhere voluntarily to the national bodies, but the argument is intended to suggest that the individual worker also enjoys the right to join or refuse to join.

That is a deception amounting to a deliberate lie. The truth is that both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. unions claim a right of compulsion over nominally free citizens, including a taxing power and the right to ostracize nonjoiners from their lawful occupations. And both invoke the authority of the United States Government under the Wagner Act to enforce this compulsion.

At this point, for the purposes of this essay, I am going to forget the C. I. O. and concentrate on the A. F. of L. The C. I. O. will keep.

Membership in A. F. of L. unions is not voluntary. Thousands of Americans are compelled to join and pay outrageous initiation fees, high dues and frequent assessments, and the Wagner Act legalizes this obvious abridgement of their rights.

By delivering them over, the Federal Government places them under the rule of the unions. It also recognizes the right of the A. F. of L. to limit the number of American citizens who may work at various occupations and the number who may learn occupations by serving as apprentices. It even permits some A. F. of L. unions to create and maintain groups of conditional members, who must pay tribute to the unions for the right to work, but are not allowed to vote.

Nobody in the American Federation of Labor, from William Green down to the foulest racketeer in the dirtiest subsidiary, which would be a tossup between Willie Bioff and Nick Circella, the Capone gangsters of the movie racket, and George Scalise of the Building Service Workers, will dare dispute any of the contentions which I have made. They are true and provable.

Bioff's selfless devotion to the cause of labor with a capital L in a job to which he never was elected may be judged from the facts that he has accumulated riches in a few years on $110 a week.

* * *

When Scalise, another rehabilitated panderer, went to Florida recently to confer with Green on problems of labor with a capital L, he paid $20 a day for his room, and the clothes in which he stood were the product of the most fastidious tailors and haberdashers in New York.

He gets $20,000 a year in a job to which he never was elected, and all his vouchers are honored without question out of the little earnings of 100,000 elevator boys, window washers, scrubwomen, chambermaids and the like. His expenses are unlimited.

If the A. F. of L. claims the right by law to compel people to join and pay, it has a compensating obligation to keep its leadership clean, and this is not conceding that the government has any right to compel anyone to join and pay taxes to any private organization.

ASHLAND JURY HITS CONDITION OF COUNTY JAIL

Charges Officials Fail to Keep It In Repair; Eight True Bills Returned.

ASHLAND—Charging that the county is allowing the county jail to deteriate, a grand jury of 14 men and one woman strongly recommended repairs and improvements, in a report made public here Friday.

The jury has been in session for two days, during which time it examined 29 witnesses, investigated nine cases, and presented eight true bills. It had in addition, set about a routine inspection of the jail, which heretofore has been found satisfactory, but this grand jury found plenty wrong.

In the report read to the presiding judge, H. E. Culbertson, the jurors stated that they "strongly recommend that the the county commissioners replace or repair the heating system; place fire extinguishers on every floor; replace jail stairs with fireproofed material; construct new flooring in sheriff's quarters where needed; paper and paint jail quarters where necessary; repair hall ceiling; and construct a padded cell for care of insane wards of probate court."

The report declared "we recommend Sheriff Hammond upon the condition in which the jail has been kept, even though it is apparent that the building is being allowed to deteriorate by the county."

True bills were presented by the jurors against three men who have been kept in custody in the county jail here in connection with the attempted blowing of the safe in the Loudonville Milling company January 17.

Indicted on two counts each, for burglary and attempted safe blowing were John Spoko, Harry Popovitch and Clarence Zenner.

Indictments were also returned against Clyde and Dwight Stofer and James Redick, charged with forgery of checks in Loudonville.

Both the Stofer men are charged on two counts, while Redick is charged on one count.

True bills were also returned against Trevor Harris, for assault and battery against Mildred Harris; Charles Howard for failure to provide for children and Donald Miller for reckless driving.

which began Nov. 30, contended:

"Abandoning our foremost positions is not of decisive significance in the defense system of the isthmus. In actual fact, the enemy has gained possession, after these bloody battles, which have cost him extremely dearly, of a relatively small area."

(The Russian communique said that since Feb. 11 Soviet troops had captured 922 Finnish fortifications, including 235 iron and concrete artillery forts; and that the Finns had lost 506 guns, 2,732 machine guns, 19 tanks, 20,000 shells, 10,000 rifles and more than 14,000,000 cartridges.

(It listed capture yesterday of the towns of Heinjoki, Mannikkala and Tali, the southern outskirts of Viipuri, Cape Keijasneimi on the western coast of Viipuri bay, and the Paakkolanokoski waterfall area on the Vuoksi river which roughly bisects the isthmus.

(These position would locate the battle lines generally from Taipale, on the east only a dozen miles from the Russian border, up the Vuoksi river to a point slightly northeast of Viipuri, and thence westward to Viipuri, which is about 50 miles from the nearest point on the Russian border.)

The Finnish review said 251 Russian planes had been shot down in February alone, with 53 additional reports still awaiting confirmation. During the first three months of the war, it listed 538 Russian planes destroyed, not counting unconfirmed reports.

CONSIDERS NEW CONGRESS RACE

Ashbrook Says He Will Decide Tuesday If He'll Run For Regular Term.

either party, although Atty. C. H. Henkel of Mansfield is considered a possible Democratic entry. He said today that he "wanted to think it over a while longer."

Ralph Lutz, Lexington, state representative from Richland county, stepped out of the congressional picture today by announcing he will seek re-election on the Democratic ticket. Lutz had considered running for congress, but awaited the outcome of Tuesday's election before deciding. He is serving his third term as representative.

Other Ohio Democrats were playing a waiting game today, and it was believed that the expected announcement of Senator Vic Donahey will have an important part in helping some of them to make up their minds.

The Democratic senator has kept his plans a secret, but he told newspapermen in Washington that he will decide today whether he will retire or run again for senator.

Davey To Reveal Plans.

In Ohio, former Governor Martin L. Davey who is eyeing the governor's office again, said he will announce next week whether he will seek the gubernatorial nomination. Political observers thought the Donahey decision might affect Davey's plans to run. Davey said, however, that he was not interested in the senate.

If Donahey retires John McSweeney of Wooster and Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, both former congressmen, are considered likely candidates for the Democratic nomination to succeed him. Former Governor George White of Marietta also was seen as a possible aspirant for the senate post.

While the Democrats were working out their slate for the May primary, Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican candidate for the nomination for senator, took his campaign into central Ohio and pledged his loyalty to Gov. John W. Bricker with whom he quarreled over the relief picture a few weeks ago.

Conferring with party leaders from seven counties at Columbus, Mayor Burton said: "I definitely am advocating Gov. Bricker's re-election as I have in the past." He proposed to avoid causing friction within the party in his contest with Representative Dudley White of Norwalk for the Republican nomination.

McGregor, congressman-elect in the 17th district, and Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, Republican winner in the 22nd district, will be sworn in as members of congress at Washington together at noon Tuesday. They will be accompanied down the aisle of the House of Representatives by Rep. Thomas Jenkins of Ironton, dean of the Ohio Republican delegation.

After the ceremony, the Ohio Republicans will give a luncheon for Mrs. Bolton and McGregor.

In his report of expenditures to the secretary of state today, McGregor said he spent $471 to win last Tuesday and Mrs. Bolton reported expenditures of $507.

CURRENT NEWS CLUB AT GALION ELECTS; OTHER SOCIAL EVENTS

GALION—Mrs. S. A. Rhoades was elected president of the Current News club, Friday afternoon, at the annual meeting held at the Galion public library. Other officers chosen to serve are: first vice president, Mrs. M. R. McCammon; second vice president, Mrs. Fred Biszantz; secretary, Mrs. Earl Peterman; treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Murphy. Current events were given as roll call responses. Mrs. J. F. Bemiller was hostess for the meeting. At the next meeting to be held in two weeks, Easter music will feature the program.

On March 15 the Mothers' Study club will hold a guest night meeting and invite members of the Junior circle, Child Conservation league. Plans for this meeting were made when the study club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. George Marshall. The program included a paper, "Habit of Sleep" presented by Mrs. Vincent Shawber, another paper, "Companions," read by Mrs. Grover Cole; and an article given by Mrs. Miller Carter.

Mrs. B. J. Whittridge was hostess to the Friday Afternoon club, entertaining with a dinner-bridge Friday evening. The games were played at the Whittridge home after a dinner at Bemiller's.

Newly elected officers of the Progress club who were chosen at a meeting at the home of Mrs. W. C. Kanable are: president, Blossom Burget; vice president, Mrs. Ralph Spaid; secretary, Mrs. G. R. McNabb; treasurer, Mrs. William Dennig.

Only routine business was transacted when the Cassandra Rebekah lodge met Friday night in the I. O. O. F. hall.

When the Mothers Singers held a pot-luck dinner at the Junior high school this weke, they elected Mrs. Hayes Crumb as president, and Mrs. Kenneth Murphy, secretary-treasurer.

PROGRAM SET

Sunday Concerts Continue at Galion High School.

GALION—At 3 o'clock Sunday another of the series of Sunday afternoon concerts will be presented under the management of Bessie Todd in Senior High auditorium.

W. F. VonBrock will direct the Junior high school band composed of some 70 pieces in a concert, added to which will be vocal and solo numbers.

Besides the numbers to be played by the band, there will be selections by a sextette of Junior high school girls composed of Persis Townsend, Ann Boyd, Marilyn Beck, David Stewart, Liev Oxaal and Richard Ness, under the direction of Winifred Schamp; cornet solo by Franklin King; trombone number by Robert Muth; and trumpet solo by James Hoekstra.

PEACE MUST BE ON NAZI TERMS, HITLER SAYS

comparatively little attention to France.

Reliable sources said Welles intended to raise the question of American-German relations but that Hitler took the initiative early in the talk, asking Welles a number of pointed questions regarding the United States attitude and its alleged allied sympathies. Hitler was reported to have said that in his view the United States was not following a strictly neutral course, and as the result Germany found herself in a position where she must be wary of all democracies.

Informants represented Hitler as expresing confidence in Germany's strength and the justice of its cause. He talked to Welles of the "injustices" which Germany suffered under the Versailles treaty, it was said.

Hitler was believed to have discussed the Russo-Finnish war and to have given Welles almost no hope that Germany might play any direct role in mediation, because of Germany's reliance on Russian supplies in a probable long war.

As regards the position of the smaller neutrals, Hitler was believed to have told Welles that Britain, not Germany, was menacing them. He was believed to have added that alleged violations of international law by Britain had forced Germany to take countermeasures, involving neutrals, in self-protection.

Second Visit Looms.

Authorized quarters expressed belief that Welles would visit Berlin again, presumably for another conference with Hitler after he has talked with Premier Edouard Daladier of France and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

Belief was expressed that Hitler had advanced no proposals. His position was believed to be that it was for the allies to accept his terms or fight to the finish. It was reported that he might soon call a meeting of the reichstag to re-state his position in advance of any possible developments from Welles' mission.

Welles started his conference with Hitler at 11:14 a. m. (5:14 a. m. EST) and left the chancellery at 12:40 p. m. (6:40 a. m. EST). Present were Alexander Kirk, charge d'affaires of the American embassy; Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister; Dr. Paul Schmidt, chief foreign office interpreter, and Otto Meissner, secretary of state for the presidential chancellery.

It was arranged for Welles to see Field Marshal Hermann Goering, Nazi No. 2, Hitler's official heir, air force chief and economic dictator, tomorrow. He was expected to leave tomorrow night for Lausanne, Switzerland, and Paris, to see Daladier and then, at London, Chamberlain.

Welles' talk with Hitler was regarded as the high spot of his tour, in that Hitler alone of belligerent leaders, was in sole charge of his country's policy. A second talk with Hitler alone could overshadow it, apparently.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1910.

Drive carefully tomorrow—"not over 50" is a good habit to cultivate on your motor trips.

You may think there is no more disgusting sight than a drunken man—but wait until you've seen a thoroughly pifflicated female.

According to Madame Perkins, head of the labor department, communism "just doesn't make sense"—and some folks feel very much that way about Madame Perkins.

Those Wasted Billions

ONE of the stock alibis for the enormous federal debt is that much of the money has gone to create "valuable assets"—that it has been invested in things which will pay out in the future.

That makes a good story until you go beneath the surface. There is no denying the fact that the federal debt has increased over $24.000,000,000 in the past few years. The National Economy League now publishes a statement showing that only $3.336,000.000, or 13.4 per cent of that vast sum, was spent for purposes which increased the nation's assets. The rest of the money has simply disappeared, leaving behind it only a gigantic burden for the taxpayers of today and tomorrow to meet.

This shouldn't surprise anyone who has given even passing attention to the financial conduct of the federal government in recent years. Billions of dollars have been appropriated for relief, to be spent as soon as received by the beneficiaries. This money created nothing permanent. Other billions have been spent for pump-priming projects which didn't work, and created little save havoc. Still more billions have gone for farm relief schemes which flopped. And so it goes, down the long and tragic list.

This country has spent all those billions and about all it has gained is the knowledge that you can't spend yourself into prosperity any more than you can drink yourself sober.

Motion Picture Awards

WHILE the right of each movie-goer to his "own opinion" is not barred by the decisions of judges, it is interesting to note that the Motion Picture Academy Awards for 1939 strongly reflect the excellence of pictures which were well received, largely patronized and highly commended when shown in Mansfield.

Recent showing here of "Gone With the Wind" makes announcement of the awards in connection with this picture especially timely, confirming the impression of many Mansfielders that the performance of Vivien Leigh as Scarlett O'Hara classes among the finest ever done for the screen.

That top honors should also go to Robert Donat for his schoolmaster role in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," may not be surprising, but there will be some wonderment that the recognition, in both instances, goes to English-born actors, rather than to some one in the galaxy of American-born screen stars.

Possibly those English actors and actresses take their work more seriously—or possibly the Hollywood influence has not yet dulled their ardor for high achievement.

Leap Year's Extra Day

MUCH has been said, within the past few days, about February's extra day, and about the birthday anniversaries that come only once every four years, but not much credit has been given those astronomers and mathematicians of centuries ago who worked out the formula for a leap year once in four—except that the century years must be divisible by 400—making a jump from 1600 to 2000.

But why is this necessary? So as to keep the year in accord with the time required for the earth to complete its journey around the sun—and actual time of which is 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, 45.51 seconds. Calculations showed that an extra day in February every four years, with slight allowance for century years, made the apportionment of time so exact as to cover several thousand years without material error.

Which may give you an idea of why it is taking so much time to get action on the several calendar-revision proposals which have been hanging fire for a number of years.

Advice To Minority Group

A LEADING American Jewish rabbi gives these suggestions to Jews:

When joining movements for economic reconstruction, keep in mind that improvements must be brought by traditional, democratic American procedure.

"No Jew ought to forget," he insists, "that our only chance for peace and security anywhere in the world today is a bill of rights, a constitution and democracy."

Join every liberal organization trying to find a solution for unemployment, but avoid groups organized to "exploit youth."

Do not attach too much importance to agencies and institutions.

"One hour spent with Isaiah, Amos or Judah Halevy (a Hebrew philosopher of the 11th century) is worth more than 1,000 hours spent reading anti-Nazi propaganda."

"Remember Hillel's words: 'Where there are no men, you try to be a man'."

And that's good advice for anybody.

Move To Standardize Colors

THIS is a colorful age, with emphasis on bright colors for home decoration, for clothing, flowers and a host of other things. Even so, few people would have supposed that the human eye could distinguish differences among 2,000,000 shades, as was stated by a speaker at the joint annual meeting of the Inter-Society Color Council, the American Physical Society and the Optical Society of America.

Only 7,041 colors and shades have been tabulated, he said, and only 3,400 have been given names which are recognized by dictionaries. That still leaves plenty of room for confusion, and many people make the most of the opportunity, using color combinations that set the observer's teeth on edge as well as others which are a delight to the eye.

The confusion is likely to be reduced to order one of these days, if the color council succeeds in its appointed task. The council is composed of representatives of eleven scientific and industrial organizations interested in standardizing colors. Order in this field should be a boon to the nation without in any way curtailing use and development of color or dimming the rainbow's beauty.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Mr. Orson Welles at 24 has grown a beard. This is not unusual when you consider that at 7 he was rewriting Shakespeare, at 16 passing himself off in Dublin as a visiting Theater Guild star, and at 22 scaring the wits out of the country with his highly realistic Martian Invasion.

Mr. Welles, of whom no one can remain unaware if one lives in New York or reads the Saturday Evening Post, does a great deal of commuting by plane between the east and west coasts. This is necessary because in New York he has a Sunday night radio program for a soup company, and in Hollywood he has a daisy of a contract that permits him to act as his own scenario-writer, his own director, and his own star.

* * *

SOMETIME ago a beard became necessary because one of the stories Orson wanted to film was based on a certain Joseph Conrad hero, a wild, shaggy bloke who must have looked like a Civil war general, and Orson grew it.

They say this beard did not win many friends or influence many people on the west coast. Welles' biographers, writing intimately of him in the magazines, say that it sent Hollywood into a rage. I must make the observation that here in the east this set of whiskers caused no such sensation. On Broadway we measure a man by the way he looks you in the eye, and if he wants to grow a beard that's his business.

But sometimes on lonely roads at night there are moments when even genius can not circumvent the penalties imposed by an unshaved mug, and to Orson Welles such a moment came at 11 p. m. on a bleak stretch of highway between here and the airport.

He was in a taxi, and the taxi broke down. There was a plane he just had to catch, and time was running out.

Motorists, driving past at that hour, instinctively stepped on the gas as they observed a wild, shaggy stranger, with no hat and no necktie, bobbing up in the headlights, trying to thumb them down. Maybe they thought the Martians were at it again. They certainly broke all speed laws getting out of the county.

Even now one can not say what would have happened if an outbound garbage truck hadn't come along. The driver, who probably didn't own a radio and who probably never heard of the Martians anyway, cried, "I giva youa lift."

* * *

SO Orson tossed his pigskin bag aboard and clambered in amid the vagrant, ruined odors of a thousand garbage pails. They came presently to a turn in the road. The airport was a quarter of a mile to the left, but the truck turned right.

"Hell, cried Orson Welles, "you can't walk out on me like this! I've got a plane to catch!"

"Hella yaself," crief the garbage man right back, "I gotta catcha ma peegs and feeda dis garbage!"

Airport officials still speak of the night that a ghost with a beard came panting across the fields just in time to catch a plane for the west coast.

Tax Revolt Revives Democracy

By HARLEY L. LUTZ,
Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University.

THE reports from Washington and Albany indicate an encouraging vigor in the revolt of the taxpayers. Both the federal budget and the New York State budget for the fiscal year 1941 contained proposals for increased taxation.

In the case of the New York program, the additional tax revenue would have resulted in a paperbalancing of the budget, assuming that all of the neat estimates and calculations regarding income and expenditures were 100 per cent correct.

In the case of the federal budget it was not a question of complete budgetary balance, but of holding down the deficit to an amount which would not increase the federal debt above the present legal limit of $45,000,000,000.

It is interesting that in each case the design was to get the additional revenue from the same group of taxpayers, namely those in the middle income tax brackets. The governor of New York made a specific recommendation to this effect. The president did so indirectly, by suggesting that congress devise a tax increase which would not reduce purchasing power and which would accord with ability to pay. In each instance the proposal seemed quite safe, for there are relatively few votes under the control of the particular group at which the tax increase was aimed.

But the project now gives strong indication of miscarriage Naturally the few who would have been directly affected may be expected to complain and to resist. But the members of congress as well as the New York legislators are reacting in a way which suggests pressure from a much larger group of citizens than that which had been singled out for the tax guillotine.

This reaction seems to say that a substantial proportion of the folks back home are in a mood to demand that their legislative representatives should stop the spending for the sake of spending." If they can put an end to this folly the water can be squeezed out of federal and state budgets and the public expenditure can be restored to a level at which they will represent the cost of the useful and necessary public services. At this level there need be no oppressive taxation upon any group for the support of government.

This response from the people is the essence of public finance in a democracy. Under the democratic theory the people must control the public purse. Back of every budget is the implied question to the people —"Are you willing to pay the taxes required to meet the expenditures herein proposed?" A protest such as is being made in Albany is the most effective way for the people to answer this question.

The curse of the kind of deficit financing used by the federal government in recent years is that it has never presented the above question to the people. It has provided a huge federal bounty which seemed to involve neither cost nor burden to any one.

This kind of easy money financing is a powerful opiate. It drugged the people into forgetfulness of their power over the purse, and led to a suspension of their right to control it. At last they seem to be throwing off the effects of this insidious drug and to be awakening to a realization that they have both a right and a responsibility in the control of public spending, to be exercised by giving or withholding their consent to the taxes required.

A taxpayers' revolt is an indication that democracy has not been wholly suffocated by the easy money policy.

Why Do We Like Inferiors?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

A LETTER, at first glance, just another one of those triangles. "Thank heaven that sort of trash doesn't touch MY life!" you say. But don't be too sure.

A common set-up . . . two girls, one man, all unmarried. The man's a bright fellow, seems very superior. Passed his bar exams well, but hasn't made much of a record since. Reads excellent books, talks brilliantly but is subject to bitter moods. Feels he's misunderstood—is becoming daily more cynical.

The older girl has gone with him for years. She's intelligent, generous, deeply devoted to him. She believes he has great possibilities and is always trying to encourage him—urging him to make the most of himself.

At first he seemed grateful for such help but lately he has become resentful. Now he seems to have thrown her over and is constantly in the company of a brainless, clinging little creature—one of the oh-aren't-you-wonderful tribe.

The older girl is cruelly hurt. How has she failed him—what has she done to alienate him?

She has, of course, done nothing save challenge his laziness and conceit. But that, with many of us, is an unforgivable crime.

Theoretically, we humans are supposed to be grateful to those who believe in and prod up our Better Natures.

Practically, we're anything but! We like, of course, to moan about our loneliness . . . brood over misunderstandings . . . spend long hours with some adoring listener, analyzing your earnings, asking for advice. But when it comes to shutting off the broadcast and getting down to action—that's something else!

Actually, our misery is a most convenient racket—serving several purposes. As an excuse for not Acting Regular, melancholia is The Tops! A Wounded Heart alibis endless cussedness.

Healthy, happy humans are expected to bustle right along and do their chores. And be responsible for their blunders. But you can't possibly ask someone who's just two jumps from suicide, to drop in at Charlie's Market for the supper steak, can you?

Wretchedness also provides swell sops for egotism. Could anything be more flattering than the spectacle of one's self standing apart, lonely and unappreciated, too fine and rare for common understanding?

It does not occur to us that the lowly skunk and the humble garlic are likewise isolated and probably for much the same reason. No, no, we're far too pleased with the notion that the vulgar mass remains aloof through awe and envy.

A few candid words from a frank friend would speedily knock this silliness out of us. Which is why frank friends are apt to be so extremely unpopular. For the last thing we really want to know is the truth about ourselves. And the last things we want to take is constructive criticism.

Why do we like inferiors? Why do brilliant, solitary souls so often surround themselves with mental pee-wees? That's why. A frank friends would make us use our brilliance and raise Cain with our solitude. So we seek, instead, the dumbbell and the dope, whose stupidity serves as a foil for our intelligence, and who don't tell us where to head in.

Are you still so sure that letter doesn't apply to YOU?

Views on Tuesday's Election.

Editor News-Journal:

The election last Tuesday in the 17th congressional district resulting in the election of J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette, Coshocton county to fill the vacancy created by the death of William A. Ashbrook needs some analysis before coming to the conclusion that the result was a repudiation of the Roosevelt administration.

First, Byron B. Ashbrook, the Democratic candidate, asked for the nomination in order to carry out the policies of his uncle, and William A. Ashbrook was far from being a New Dealer. He had voted against the administration on nearly every maior issue. He was for Garner for president and knew that there was doubt as to whether he could be a successful candidate due to his attitude on administration policies and the growing strength of the Townsendites, whom he had bitterly opposed. The writer received a letter from William A. recently still undecided whether to enter the race or not.

Second, there was a feeling that Licking county had had the congressional representative long enough. Morgan, West and Ashbrook had all been from Licking county and had held the office for over twenty-five years.

Third, due to the exceedingly short period for campaigning and Byron Ashbrook's inexperience he accepted the offer of Ex-Governor Martin L. Davey to make his campaign fight for him.

With no disrespect to this plan it never has been considered advantagious for one candidate to be sponsored by another candidate, as usually you inherit all the enemies of the sponsor and few of the friends. Fourth, McGregor carried Ashland county by his avowal both publicly and privately of the Townsend plan. It is said that he spoke before a specially arranged meeting of five hundred at the Townsend hall in Ashland on Saturday night preceding the election and received a big ovation.

This may have been more of a key to McGregor's success in other counties, but it is much more attributable to his victory than the silly theory that his election was a repudiation of the New Deal, especially when everyone knows that William A. Ashbrook was not a New Dealer and never had been.

It would have been nearer correct to have stated that the New Dealers defeated Ashbrook. It was an unfair election from the beginning as the decision to hold the special election was known to the Republicans long before there was any idea that Governor Bricker would impose an expense of $100,000 on the counties of Ohio when he had been crying out so vehemently for economy. Republicans were all set for this election and had their workers all designated long before the date set, and we ask you whether this is an honorable and fair way of holding an election? We'll see to it that the public has all the information about the candidates in the fall and that will demonstrate more accurately whether this election was a repudiation of the New Deal. How many Republicans voted for McGregor knowing that he was a Townsendite? But they were entitled to know this and every other theory he may publicly or privately espouse.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

CONGRESSMEN, after only two months' work, are fidgeting to be off mending their political fences. But even optimists among them can't sight adjournment this side of May 15.

Thus far, they've done little but shave the president's budget, tentatively, and argue reciprocal trade. House members have introduced only 1,000 bills, as against 8,000 by March 1 last year. Nor has the session been harried by presidential "musts."

While not day-dreaming, this week, senators and representatives talked about:

1. Foreign Trade.

The senate finance committee held hearings on the New Deal's reciprocal trade program, which the house okayed last week-end.

Agriculture Secretary Wallace, supporting the program, frowned on the "market basket" scheme whereby the Allies would have to buy U. S. farm products to get munitions. And State Secretary Hull revealed that his agents are trying to get all nations to promise they'll abandon high tariffs, economic autarchy and barter after the war.

2. Aid for Farmers.

Senators trying to pare further the farm bill slashed by the house found many colleagues—including Republicans—urging, instead, that parity payments be added. Parity forces took heart when the house passed a deficiency bill that included $60,000,000 more for benefit payments this year. (Benefit payments go to farmers who cooperate in the crop-control program. Parity payments are designed to boost farm purchasing power to 1910-14 levels.)

3. Aid for Finns.

The house, by a cagey rising vote Wednesday, agreed to lend desperate Finns $20,000,000 to buy non-military goods here. The vote was on a bill already passed by the senate to increase the capital of the federal export-import bank by $100,000,000. China, Norway and Sweden also may get credits. But the house ruled that nations in default on their war debts need not apply.

4. Defense.

In cutting the president's $921.-000,000 request for the army, the house appropriations committee thumbs-downed a $15,000,000 item to start a third set of Panama Canal locks, and one of $700.000 for dredging the harbor at Wake Island in the Pacific.

5. The Census.

As indignant women's clubbers at Collingswood, N. J., vowed they'd go to jail before answering "personal" questions about age, divorce and salary, Republican senators charged the 1940 census would be "indelicate" and "illegal."

At Home

'Told You So.'

Less than two weeks before the World war armstice, Gen. John J. Pershing, AEF commander-in-chief, recommended "continuing the war until we force unconditional surrender from Germany." That advice was disclosed this week when the state department published the papers of President Wilson's secretary of state, Robert Lansing.

And if it had been followed, aging Gen. Pershing thereupon asserted, Europe would be at peace today. The armstice set the stage for renewal of the conflict 21 years later, he argued, by permitting the Germans to march back "with colors flying and bands playing," posing as "victims of political conditions."

'Improved Service.'

American airmail for Europe now passes under British censorship at Bermuda. This has been going on since Jan. 18, when, according to one report, the first pouches were removed from a Pan American clipper "at bayonet point." Without mentioning that incident, Pan American announced this week that its eastbound flights would skip Bermuda after March 15. "Improved weather service," the airline said, will enable the planes to save 300 miles by hopping direct to the Azores.

* * *

New Ships for Old.

Much of the U. S. merchant marine was built during or right after the World war. Now, just as those ships approach the age of obsolescence, new wars abroad are booming the market for old cargo craft. Since Sept. 15, the federal maritime commission reported this week, 106 aging American vessels have been transferred to foreign registry. "It has appeared to the commission to be sound business," a member explained "to sell the old 'jalopies' and use the money for replacements."

* * *

Flash Flood.

Nine inches of rain fell in 24 hours on parts of northern and central California this week. Normally dry creeks became torrents. Earth slides blocked highways and railroads. Rivers burst their banks and drove thousands from home.

Timely Editorial

Where's the End?

It is brought out by a recent survey that more than half the federal expenditures go for agencies and functions that had no existence before the New Deal was born. That in itself is a sad commentary on the spending of the last seven years. No doubt the convenient but somewhat fake bookkeeping of defenders of the New Deal might show a still higher percentage of spending for these New Deal organizations.

If it be admitted, as it must, that the depression brought new problems to government, and that all government costs more than it used to cost, it still is apparent that we are pouring out billions on favorite but useless schemes. In fact, if some of these agencies are needed, it still is apparent both that they are extravagantly administered, and that there might well be combinations of several of them, thereby cutting down costs. . . . if this sort of government persists four years longer we might as well confess bankruptcy not only of money and resources, but also of ideals and really democratic programs.—Ohio State Journal.

Science

Safety Saving.

Since 1922, according to a report to this week's meeting of the National Education association in St. Louis, traffic fatalities among adults have increased 160% while those among children have dropped 25%. This saving of an estimated 62,000 young lives was credited to safety education in the schools. The automobile, the report added, is, despite its annual toll of 32,000 U. S. lives, far safer per passenger-mile than the old horse-and-buggy.

* * *

Guns or Babies?

Underfed chickens lost weight. More surprising, Indiana university's Dr. W. R. Breneman has found, their glands shrink 25% faster than the rest of their bodies. Result: a drop in sex tone. His report this week gave rise to speculation on the possible effects of war rationing on human fertility.

Abroad

They Laugh and Pray.

Nearly an eighth of Switzerland's total population (4,200,000) is in the army now. But life within earshot of French and German guns along the upper Rhine hasn't dulled the national sense of humor. Today's best-selling Swiss postcard cartoons the legendary crossbow marksman, William Tell, staring popeyed at a modern recruit. "What," the old man asks, "have they done to my son?"

* * *

Mixed Memories.

This Saturday was Pope Pius XIII's 64th birthday and the first anniversary of his election as supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic church. The year, as he reviewed its pleasant memories, had brought peace to Spain, with victory for Gen. Franco, and closer relations between the Vatican and Rome.

But it had brought, also, bitter realization of two of the church's worst fears: a major war in Europe and Communism on the march. Unbowed, the pope projected his war on war into its second year by receiving Myron C. Taylor as President Roosevelt's personal representative in "parallel endeavors for peace."

* * *

Soldier of Fortune.

Kermit Roosevelt, a son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, served with both British and American forces in the World war. Last fall, when war was resumed, he resigned as a captain in the U. S. army reserve and became a British major. This week, at 50, he was reported resigning that commission to lead an international brigade being organized in England to fight for the Finns.

Quotes

Dr. Karl L. Compton: "The age of discoveries of new continents is past but the age of pioneering into new fields of opportunity in applied science and invention is now with us."

Sen. Robert F. Wagner: "I cannot subscribe to scrapping our practical, working old-age insurance program, with its promise of constructive advances in the future, in favor of a misguided tax and pension scheme that can only bring disappointment to the aged or economic disaster to the entire nation."

Politics

Profit Limitation.

The Hatch act, passed by congress last August, restricts political activities of federal employes below the rank of policy-makers: They may, for instance, attend party conventions only as specators; they may wear political badges, but can't march in parades.

Now Senator Hatch, a Democrat from New Mexico, proposes further limiting the profits of patronage by applying similar restrictions to employes of state agencies that receive federal funds.

Down But Not Out.

Besides black-balling Gov. Earl Long for renomination, last week, Louisiana voters elected a new, anti-Long state Democratic central committee. Four days later the outgoing committee nominated Long for secretary of state in place of a candidate who had died. Governor-designate Sam Houston Jones promptly rejected this "lame duck" action, and his backers promised the new committee would repudiate it by nominating a Jones man for the vacancy.

GOP: One Up.

Two of Ohio's 24 congressmen died recently, Democrat William A. Ashbrook and Republican Chester A. Bolton. To complete their unfinished terms, voters in special elections last Tuesday picked two Republicans: J. Harry McGregor, Coshocton contractor; and Mrs. Frances Payne Bolton, of Cleveland, her predecessor's widow and one of America's wealthiest women. Republicans hailed that double victory as a forerunner of what would happen on a national scale in November.

In Short

Appointed: Ernest T. Weir, steel magnate, as national GOP finance committee chairman.

Born: A daughter, Princess Marie Gabriella, to Italy's Crown Prince Umberto and Crown Princess Marie Jose.

Released: Flyer Harold Dahl, of Champaign, Ill., captured Spanish Loyalist volunteer, after 31 months in a Franco prison.

Killed: Nine airliner passengers, including three New Yorkers, and two crewmen, in a crash near Bucaramanga, Colombia.

Daily Bible Thought

But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world.—1 Corinthians 11:32.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is the anniversary of the signing in 1918 of the Treaty of Brest-Livotsk between Germany and Bolshevist Russia. The treaty, advantageous to Germany, was not allowed to stand.

MARKS PRISON SUNDAY WITH 2 SERVICES HERE

Salvation Army Leaders Will Speak at Reformatory and County Jail.

Services will be held tomorrow morning at the reformatory and the Richland county jail by the Salvation Army as the Mansfield unit joins other Salvation army corps throughout the nation in observing its annual Prison Sunday.

Brig. William A. Spatig, of Cleveland, divisional commander for northeastern Ohio, will be here to visit the reformatory and speak during the morning service. He will be accompanied by Major James Coates, divisional secretary, who will conduct services at the jail following the reformatory service.

Brig. Spatig also will speak during a holiness meeting at the citadel on South Main street, at 11 a. m. Music will be furnished by the band directed by Lieut. M. L. Cox, assistant officer of the Mansfield corps, and the singing company under the direction of Mrs. D. R. Brown. Services also are scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

TALKS ON 'HEALING POWER'

"The Healing Power," is the subject of a sermon Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church, will speak on at the 10:45 a. m. service Sunday.

The choir, directed by A. LeMoine Derr, will sing, 'Hear My Cry, O God," and Jim Hart will sing "Arise, O Sun," as the offertory solo. Miss Louise Krause, organist, will play "Jesus Christ, Our Saviour," "Come Sweet Death," and "Andante Serivso."

A meeting of the Pastor's Training class will be held at 4:30 p. m. Sunday in the men's parlor, and Richard Sparks will be in charge of a meeting of the Youth Fellowship at 6:30 p. m.

Peter Wong of China will be guest speaker at a Chinese supper for members of the High School boys' class Wednesday evening. The Flower Guild meets at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Deming Lowrey, 500 Edgewood road, and the Women's Association will hold a tea at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, with Mrs. Russell Gimbel of the Friendly House as guest speaker.

PREACHES AT 2 SERVICES

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran, will preach during the morning and evening services at the church tomorrow. His subject at 9:45 a. m. will be "Spiritual Freedom," and at 7:30 p. m. he will speak on "Simon, Who First Carried Christ's Cross."

In the morning the choir will sing "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," and Miss Miriam Culler will present the offertory solo, and in the evening the choir will sing "Light At Evening Time" and "Lamb of God."

A Sunday school teacher's training begins at 10:45 a. m. Sunday at the parish house, and meetings of the Senior and Intermediate Luther leagues are scheduled for 6:30 p. m. The church choir meets at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church.

SECOND SERMON

Rev. Hagelbarger to Continue Pre-Easter Series.

Giving the second in a series of sermons leading up to Easter, Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, will speak on "How May I Be Saved?" at 10:30 a. m. Sunday.

The junior choir will present music, and as a duet, Dolores Faust and Helen Hagelbarger will sing "If Christ Should Come," and a quartet comprised of Barbara Shively, Helen Hagelbarger, Richard Ader and Harlan Laser will sing "In the Garden."

Monthly meeting of the church official board is scheduled 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The Christian Endeavor, young people and conference groups will unite for a meeting at 6 p. m. Sunday with Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger and Mrs. O. F. Shively on the program.

Two church missionary groups meet Tuesday. The Woman's Missionary society at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. John Howard in charge of the program. Mrs. Albert Wheeler the devotions and Charles Freehafer as guest speaker and the Missionary Guild at the church Tuesday evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HEARS LAYMAN

First Presbyterian Member Will Speak at Session Tomorrow.

Charles Farry, a member of the First Presbyterian church, will speak during the Sunday school hour at 9:15 a. m. tomorrow. His subject will be "Is the Sunday School Living Up to Its Possibilities?"

Music during the hour will include a violin duet, "The Shepherd's Dream," by W. F. McCartney and William Hilson.

Rev. David N. Roller, pastor, will speak on "The Lost Generation" during the 10:30 a. m. service of worship. The senior choir will sing "Praise the Lord," and Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, organist, will present "Andante Serioso," "Sarabande," and "Postlude in D."

HE FORGETS; POLICE DONT

FALL RIVER, Mass. — (U.P.) — Three minutes after he entered a police station to ask how he could get a WPA job, Aime LaForest was in a jail cell. Police remembered they were holding a three-year-old warrant for his arrest on assault charges.

Revival Speaker

Rev. T. B. Orr of Galion, above, will conduct a two-week revival meeting at the Free Methodist church beginning at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Services will continue nightly until March 17. His subjects for the first three nights next week are, Monday, "The Necessity Of a Revival;" Tuesday, "The Possibility Of a Revival," and Wednesday, "The Price Of a Revival."

HOLD RECEPTION

Baptists Greet New Members At Morning Worship.

Reception of new members and the Lord's Supper will be held in conjunction with the morning service at 10.30 tomorrow at Park Avenue Baptist church.

The senior choir will sing "Hear My Prayer, O Lord," and Paul Seifert and Glen Rodey will sing "So Thou Liftest Thy Divine Petition," from "The Crucifixion." Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music, will play three organ numbers, "Largo" from "The New World Symphony," "Songs Without Words," and "Grand March" from "Aida." Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will present a meditation.

Thelma Vawter will act as discussion leader at a meeting of the Tri-C young peoples' group in the church parlors at 5:30 p. m. Sunday, and Darrell Bush, president, will preside during the business session. The Senior World Wide Guild will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Edna May Boswell, 264 Park Avenue west. Mrs. Wallace Campbell will present a book review. Harold Roberts and Charles Abele will have charge of the program at a meeting of the Charles H. Huston class at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church.

GIVES PROGRAM

Jonathan Glee Club Sings at First Methodist Church.

The Jonathan glee club, directed by A. D Arnold, will present a musical program in conjunction with the 7:30 p. m. service Sunday at First Methodist church.

The club will sing "He Who Would Valiant Be," "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven," "An Even Song," and "The Lost Chord." Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor, will speak on "A Spiritual Equinox."

Rev. Corwin will speak on "The Lure of Sacrifice" during the morning worship hour at 10:30, and the church choir will sing the anthem, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee." Donald McLaughlin will sing "Pass Me Not O Gentle Saviour" as a solo. Fourth week of the Win-3-Program in the Sunday school will be observed at 9:15 a. m. This is a contest to increase the average attendance in each class by three, before Easter.

OPENS REVIVAL SERIES SUNDAY

Services will continue nightly at 7:45 through March 10 with Rev. Jack W. Mellick, pastor of the Lexington Church of Christ, as the speaker. A young people's meeting at 7:30 will precede each service.

Rev. Mellick's subjects for the week include, "Is A Revival Needed?"; "Satanic Substitutes;" "Principles of Divine Judgment;" "Are These the Latter Days?" "All Things Are Ready;" "Twentieth Century Tragedies" and "Why Preach the Cross?"

SCIENTIST TOPIC

'Christ Jesus' Will be Subject of Sunday Lesson-Sermon.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ" (II Corinthians 4:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Judas saith unto him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world? . . . Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him" (John 14:22,23).

POLISH ARMY OF 50,000 FORMED TO AID ALLIES

5,000 Aviators Being Trained For Warfare With British, French Forces.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three articles telling what has happened to Poland in the six months since the European war started with the bombing of Warsaw.)

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — While the Polish army was being chopped to pieces by the invading Germans the Polish government, thrown into chaotic confusion, retreated until all hope was lost, and then crossed the border into Rumania.

President Ignace Moscicki is now in Switzerland.

Marshal Edward Smigly Rydz, the virtual dictator of Poland and commander-in-chief of the army, is interned on a private estate north of Bucharest.

To replace those officials, Polish leaders organized a new Republican government with the "capital" at Angers, France.

The new government, which is recognized by all nations except Germany and Soviet Russia, is headed by President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz, former president of the Polish senate.

The premier and commander of the Polish military forces being organized in France is general Wladyslaw Sikorski, who organized the Poles in 1914, served as premier until he disagreed with Marshal Smigly Rydz.

The national council of 24 members is headed by Ignace Paderewski, world famed pianist and modern Poland's first premier.

Embassies and legations, with greatly reduced staffs, are maintained as before the war. In addition to the embassy in Washington there are Polish consulate-generals in New York and Chicago and a Polish consulate at Pittsburgh.

The Polish army disintegrated after three weeks of smashing attacks by the German air force and army.

With many of those who escaped and volunteers who were living in other countries General Sikorski has organized a new Polish army which consists of about 50,000 men. It will operate as a Polish army with the allies.

200 Planes Saved.

German bombing planes, smashing nearly every Polish airdrome before the Poles knew war had started, destroyed most of the Polish air force within the first few days of fighting. Only about 200 planes were able to fly over the border, most to Rumania, where they were interned.

Some pilots and mechanics who escaped managed to reach England and France and—with planes furnished by the Allies—nearly 5,000 Polish aviators are now undergoing training for aerial warfare with the British, French and Polish armies.

When the war started the Polish navy consisted of four destroyers, five submarines and a number of smaller craft. German planes bombed and sank the disabled destroyer Wicher after it had sunk two German destroyers in battle in the Baltic.

More destroyers escaped and are now serving with the British navy.

One Polish submarine escaped and is now with the British, but four others were disabled or interned in neutral ports after exciting adventures in the Baltic.

All other naval craft were scuttled, sunk or captured.

Poland's gold reserve before the war was valued at approximately $75,000,000. Half of the reserve was carried over the Rumanian border and reached London in safety. Most of the remainder also reached London in smaller shipments later although an undisclosed amount was retained in Rumania to pay refugee and internment expenses.

With the collapse of the Warsaw government Poland announced suspension of interest and sinking fund payments on all Polish bonds "until the termination of hostilities." A considerable amount is held in the United States.

The angers government revenues consist of payments by the Anglo-French allies, interest on the gold on deposit in London, some trade balances in neutral countries, and earnings of 14 merchant vessels which are under charter to the allies.

FILLS PULPIT AT GRACE CHURCH

Cannon Missioner Guest Rector at Service Tomorrow.

Rev. B. B. Comer Lile, cannon missioner of the diocese of Ohio for the Episcopal church, will be guest rector at the Grace Episcopal church at the 11 a. m. service tomorrow.

Rev. Lile will fill the pulpit vacated last Sunday by Rev. M. G. Nicola, rector for the past 17 years, who yesterday became rector of the Grace Episcopal church in Ravenna. Rev. Nicola will preach his first sermon in Ravenna tomorrow.

Holy Communion will be observed in conjunction with morning service at the church with Rev. Lile presiding. Young churchmen of the congregation will hold their second evensong service at 5:30 p. m.

Asks Aid for War Sufferers

Urging government aid to relieve human suffering, former President Herbert Hoover goes before the house foreign affairs committee in Washington as a citizen. Shown with Representative Sol Bloom of New York, Hoover now is engaged in a humanitarian campaign to aid victims in war-torn Europe.

MISS WINKLER NAMES DATE FOR WEDDING

Will Become Bride of Robert R. Portner at Grace Gospel Tabernacle March 30 Friends Told at Party Friday.

AT A PARTY given last night by Mrs. Fred Winkler and two of her daughters, the Misses Ruth and Florence, the engagement of her daughter and their sister, Martha Edna, to Robert R. Portner was announced. The announcement was made at the family home, 58 Henry street, when a quizz game was being conducted.

Miss Esther Snyder announced the date and the names of the attendants. The ceremony will be performed March 30 at 6:30 p. m. at the Grace Gospel Tabernacle by Rev. Charles D. Snyder. Open church will be observed.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister Ruth as maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Kolhbacker, a cousin from Dayton, and Miss Snyder, another cousin, as her attendants.

Game and contest prizes were won by Miss Florence Hout, and Mrs. Henry Leatherman. A buffet luncheon was served from a long table decorated with a three tier wedding cake and two branch candelabra. Pink and white was the color scheme.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winkler, and has been employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Mr. Portner is the son of Charles Portner, and is employed by Farm Tools Inc.

At the close of the evening the hostesses presented Miss Winkler with an electrical gift.

HAVE LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Charles L. Shafer was a guest of the Priscillian club yesterday afternoon for a meeting at the Women's Club. There were also 13 club members present for the 1 o'clock luncheon. A bouquet of spring flowers centered the table. Mrs. W. H. Gugler was hostess for the day. The place of the next meeting, March 15, will be announced later, although Mrs. R. A. Glessner will be the hostess at that time.

Box Social Held by Booster Class of Central Church

A box social supper was an event of last evening for members of the Booster class of the Central Methodist church in the church parlors. St. Patrick appointments were used on the tables. Mr. and Mrs. William Wert, Mr. and Mrs. George Yingling and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weimer arranged the affair.

The program, which was planned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Owen and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beroth, followed a short business session. Barbara Beroth gave a reading, and Tommy Owen played a guitar solo. A pantomime was then presented by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarger, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frye, Mr. and Mrs. Beroth, Mr. and Mrs Owen and Tommy.

The group then sang hymns and made recordings. This feature of the evening was conducted by L. C. Baumgardner. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rinker and Mr. and Mrs. Frye will be in charge of the next meeting, April 5. The program will be arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bair and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Oswalt.

Flowers Will Be Top Fashion Interest Easter

Flowers have a lot to say in 1940 fashions. Real and artificial ones are repeated in prints and jeweled accents. New trick this year is to fasten fresh flowers with a flower pin, whose design repeats the corsage blooms. Sole accent to this black Easter frock is a collarbone cluster of daisies caught with a diamond studded daisy. A bed of daisies grow on the crown of the black straw hat.

Hedges Society Holds Meeting at Mrs. Bean's Home

Mrs. Gerald Bean, Ruth avenue, opened her home to members of the Lucretia Hedges Missionary society of the First Methodist church last night for the regular monthly meeting. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. James Rizer, Mrs. Homer Seevers, and Miss Rebecca Grubaugh.

After the business session which was conducted by Mrs. Rizer, the group agreed to serve dinner to the Social Workers club March 4 at the church. Mrs. Clarence Lisle was in charge of the program, and Mrs. S. R. Baird led the devotions.

Chapter 4 of the study book "Home and Harvest" entitled "The Cost of Home Missions" was reviewed by Mrs. George Hart. Miss Vivian Miller of the Central Methodist church gave the reading "The Blessed Damozel." Mrs. Roma Campbell conducted a Lenten service representative of the passover supper, after which the Lenten offering was taken.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the evening. Mrs. Walter Harris, North Mulberry street, will entertain the group April 5.

Present Program Before Garden Club Members

Mrs. H. C. Little entertained 17 members of the Town and Country Garden club yesterday afternoon at her home on Crescent road. A bouquet of white snapdragons and freesia with green foliage centered the buffet luncheon table. Mrs. R. H. Emerson presided.

During the business session, Mrs. Robert Stevens was appointed ticket chairman for the Dental Clinic benefit bridge. Mrs. H. W. Gibbs then gave a talk on "Conservation," and the program was concluded when Mrs. Samuel Orr discussed "Historical Trees in the United States." Mrs. Wilmot Peirce has invited the group to her home, 796 Yale drive, for the meeting of March 29.

Past Matrons Elect Three New Officers

Officers of the Past Matrons club were elected yesterday when they met at the Temple for a dessert session. Mrs. Anna Leistensnider is the new president. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louisa Ruhl, vice-president, and Mrs. Norma Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Miller, Mrs. L. D. Bower and Mrs. Laura Burbaker were the hostesses. The tables were decorated with white flowers and green tapers. The next meeting will be a dinner April 5 with the place to be announced later. Hostesses are Mrs. Thelma Hartman, Mrs. Bessie Leap and Hazel Zellner.

John Jolliff, 416 West Fifth street, was called to Concordia college at Ft. Wayne, Ind., where his son, John, jr., who suffered an appendicitis attack yesterday, is a student.

JARED MANSFIELD CHAPTER HAS DINNER

Historical Volumes Exhibited, Discussed By Miss Henrietta Frank; Pilgrimage Contestants Introduced.

THE annual birthday dinner was served at 6 p. m. yesterday to members of the Jared Mansfield chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution when Mrs. George Hughes, Sherman avenue entertained. She was assisted by Mrs. T. F. Frank, Mrs. Elmer Post, Mrs. William Fendrick, Mrs. Harry C. Brubaker, Mrs. B. L. Sites and Miss Jeanette Martin.

Following the patriotic opening Mrs. John N. Shook, guest member from the Portland, Ind., chapter, gave the devotions. Miss Henrietta Frank, historical research chairman, then exhibited and discussed 26 books which have been bound by the chapter. They include old marriage and birth records of Richland county, an index to the Graham history of Richland county, locations of old cemeties, and descriptions of schools and churches, and old letters.

These books will be placed in the state and national D. A. R. libraries and in the Mansfield public library.

Mrs. Stanley A. Richardson, chairman of the good citizenship pilgrimage, introduced Miss Gladys Herring of Madison high school, who won the local award, and Miss Jeannette Werner of Mansfield Senior high school. Both girls spoke.

Atty. Charles Freehafer spoke on "Youth at the Crossroads" and Atty. Leslie K. Wagner spoke briefly.

Mrs. Carl Spangler, chairman for the correct use of the flag, read a request from John Simpson junior high school for a flag, and the chapter agreed to present a silk flag and standard.

It was announced that five boxes of supplies and clothing have been sent to the school for mountain children at Crossnore, N. C., during the past year. The next meeting will be held April 5 with Mrs. A. C. Butterfield as hostess.

She will be assisted by Mrs. J. L. Stevens, Mrs. R. W. Jones, Mrs. A. E. Hancock, Mrs. T. M. Banks, Miss Hazel K. Zellner and Miss Ruth Culbertson.

How Do You Make Wedding Cakes?

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Easter Sunday this year will be March 24, and already we are receiving requests for recipes of Easter wedding breakfast and reception menus.

Whether the occasion is small or elaborate, a wedding cake, a bride's cake and ice cream usually figure on the menu. For the hot dish, chicken a la king is most often the choice.

If the kitchen facilities permit it, one can make the wedding cake at home. Here is a recipe for a marvelous wedding cake, rich and aromatic. Ingredients include one cup each butter and brown sugar, six egg yolks, two teaspoons each cinnamon and allspice, one-half teaspoon each mace, nutmeg and cloves, two squares melted chocolate, one-fourth cup glycerine, one-half cup each molasses and fruit juices, one cup strawberry preserve, one pound each seedless raisins and seedless currants, one-third cup each candied orange peel, candied cherries and candied lemon peel, cut into small pieces; one cup each candied citron, cut into small pieces, and blanched almonds, broken; one-half cup each pecan nut meats and walnut meats both, broken, and six egg whites.

Cream Butter.

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, creaming well. Beat egg yolks until thick and creamy, add to butter and sugar, blending well. Sift remaining dry ingredients together. Melt chocolate, add two tablespoons glycerine, while melting. Add chocolate to molasses, fruit juices and preserves. Rub fruit and nuts with remaining glycerine, coating well. To sugar mixture, add dry ingredients and liquid, alternately. Stir fruits and nuts into batter. Fold in egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry, into batter. Baker in a tube pan for about four hours in a 250 degrees F. oven.

Bride's Cake is made with three and three-fourths cups sifted cake flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one and three-fourths cups butter, two cups sugar, one and one-fourth cups egg whites, unbeaten, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one-fourth teaspoon almond extract. Sift flour once, add baking powder, sift together three times. Cream butter well, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg whites, one-fourth cup at a time, beating about three minutes after each addition. Add flour, small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flavoring, beat vigorously. Turn in to 10-inch tube pan which has been greased, lined on bottom, sides and around tube with heavy paper, and again greased. Bake in 275 degrees F. oven one hour, then increase to 300 degrees F. and bake 50 minutes longer or until done.

Insert favors by wrapping each in waxed paper and pressing into small slits cut in cake. Spread smoothly with butter dressing, on top and sides. Decorate with borders, festoons and rosettes of the frosting and trim with silver dragees. Serve on silver tray or platter surrounded with sprays of fern, freesias, cosmos or bridal wreath. Place special bride favor on top of cake, if desired, or tie small wedding bells or other favors to white ribbons and intertwine through sprays.

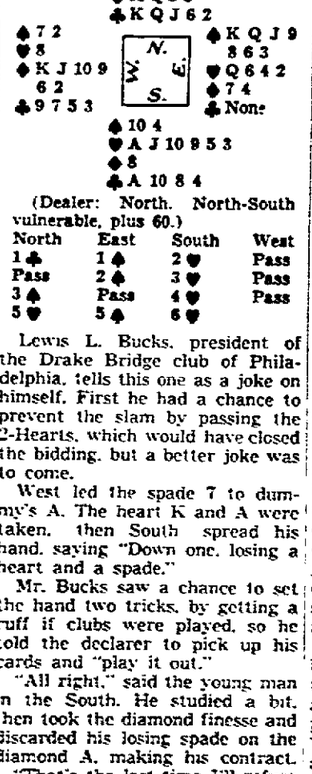
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

ACCEPT WELL ENOUGH

"Let well enough alone" is a motto worth following in some bridge situations. One of these comes when an opponent, playing a slam contract, concedes that he is down a trick or so. Even if you think you may be able to set him more, it will pay you to study the situation carefully before objecting. Bear in mind that, if you make him play it out, or tell you how he is going to play it, he may produce a line of activity which will enable him to make his contract. Then how will you feel?



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable, plus 60.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
Pass	2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
5 ♥	5 ♠	6 ♥

Lewis L. Bucks, president of the Drake Bridge club of Philadelphia, tells this one as a joke on himself. First he had a chance to prevent the slam by passing the 2-Hearts, which would have closed the bidding, but a better joke was to come.

West led the spade 7 to dummy's A. The heart K and A were taken, then South spread his hand, saying "Down one, losing a heart and a spade."

Mr. Bucks saw a chance to set the hand two tricks, by getting a ruff if clubs were played, so he told the declarer to pick up his cards and "play it out."

"All right," said the young man in the South. He studied a bit, then took the diamond finesse and discarded his losing spade on the diamond A, making his contract.

"That's the last time I'll refuse anybody's concession of defeat in a slam contract," philosophized the victim of the case.

What is the most profitable contract for North and South on this deal, and what lucky factor enables them to make it?

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, March 3.

Sunday's horoscope is a most propitious one for making headway through much energy and initiative, wtih the hearty support of those in power and prestige. The faculties and forces are under excellent stimuli for achievement, especially with new projects of an ambitious but practical nature.

Those whose birthday it is are under splendid auspices for a constructive and progressive year, with superiors and those in power ready to lend support to practical propositions.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, have splendid initiative and creative ability, skill and ingenuity, winning support from its superiors.

For Monday, March 4.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of startling and intriguing events, with sudden visitations filled with dynamic and thrilling episodes. These are heightened by elements of intrigue and subtlety, a perplexity combination calling for more than ordinary dexterity and sound judgment in order to overcome dangers. The health and domestic situation also call for attention and discretion.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of breathtaking events, causing commotion and excitement as well as perplexing and baffling situations. This combination, while critical and extraordinary, may be turned to fine advantage and thrilling adventure by restraint, sagacity, stratagem and ingenuity.

A child born on this day may have extraordinary talents, originality and ingenuity, with shrewd and subtle depths, which should land it in the spotlight.

FIGHT FOR LOVE + + + + + + +

By SYLVIA TAYLOR

(Copyright, 1940)

CHAPTER IX

It was the end of the week after her landlady had reminded her that another payment on the rent was due that Star ran into Leslie Reed. He was coming from a hotel with a group of friends just as Star passed by. She knew several of them and they spoke to her carelessly, but Leslie excused himself and ran after her as she walked rapidly in the opposite direction.

"It's nice to see you again," he said in his friendly fashion.

She glanced at him murmuring "Yes," but she did not stop.

"I telephoned you several times," he told her, "but your mother said you were not at home."

"Didn't she tell you where I was?"

"No, she always said she didn't know."

"I'm not living at home any more," she told him soberly.

Leslie said approvingly, "Swell! How about a date?"

Star looked at him wistfully. He represented so much for which she longed, but she knew now that she was not yet ready to associate with boys like Leslie. Sooner or later his parents would interfere. She remembered how the Judge Bennet had looked the night of Sheila's party for the high-school graduates. Such a curious, speculative look, as if he were surprised and not altogether approving. No, there was no use deceiving herself. Nina had taught her a lesson she could not forget.

"It's nice of you to ask me," she said. "But I can't."

"Why not?" he asked surprised. "You're not working at night, are you?"

Star shook her head.

"Then why can't you?"

"I just can't," she insisted.

Suddenly his face darkened.

"You mean there is somebody else?"

Well, he had better think that than to know the real reason—that she wasn't good enough.

Star remained silent so long that Leslie said, "You look unhappy. Is there anything I can do for you?"

Proudly she lifted her head.

"Of course not, Leslie! That's my car coming. I'll have to run."

* * *

Star watched Leslie walking away from her, and there were tears in her eyes. Pride is expensive when a girl has only a dime in her purse. She had not eaten since the night before and she was feeling ill and weak.

Something would have to be done. She could no longer wait on fate. But while she had been talking to Leslie she had decided to go to Mamie and ask her for a small loan. At least, she thought bitterly, her mother would give her something to eat.

She was so tired that the three flights of stairs seemed longer and steeper than usual. The door was locked so she had to ring. Mamie answered and Star saw that she was in one of those unpleasant moods which always followed a quarrel with her husband.

"Well, what do you want?" Mamie demanded.

Star pushed past her into the living-room.

"I'm hungry," she said.

"It serves you right, Star. What do you mean throwing up a good job and disappearing? To say nothing of a chance to marry a man like Bob Lambert?"

"If I were you, I wouldn't say any more about that," Star replied in a low voice.

"If you're trying to imply that it's my fault, you're wrong," Mamie flared. "Bob came to see me himself and insisted that that night made no difference to him."

"Mother," Star said suddenly, feeling as if she would faint, "can't we talk about it later? I have to have something to eat."

Mamie led the way into the kitchen but she did not stop talking.

"Fix yourself a sandwich," she said ungraciously. "There's cold meat in the icebox."

She watched with sullen eyes as the girl buttered bread and poured herself a glass of milk.

"Bob told me he still wanted you to marry him. What do you mean running off like that?"

"Mrs. Lambert was opposed to from the start," Star said wearily. "But she was too clever to say so."

"Nina can't keep you from getting married," her mother reminded her.

* * *

Star put down the glass from which she had been drinking.

"There's no use discussing it, Mother. I'm not going to marry Bob now. His mother is taking him to Europe."

"He left word with me that he would see you when he comes back," Mamie reported eagerly. "There's no use you being stubborn about it. Men like Bob Lambert don't grow on trees. It isn't too late to get in touch with him. They aren't going until the end of this week. You can telephone him."

"No. I promised not to see him again and I am going to keep my promise. I don't even want to marry him now."

"Then you're a fool," raged Mamie. "Where are you going to live? What are you going to do?"

"I'll work. I've had my application in with an agency for a week and they feel sure they can get something for me soon. If you will lend me a little money until then, just a little, Mother. It won't take much. You can spare it from the grocery money, can't you? I'll pay you back."

"No you won't," her mother retorted. "Because there won't be anything to pay back. You don't have to starve. You know what you can do."

"But I can't call Bob. I tell you, I promised Mrs. Lambert."

"Pooh!" sniffled Mamie. "What's a promise in a case like this? Don't you ever consider anyone but yourself? How about me? Where's the money you promised to give me every week?"

The girl stared at her with somber eyes.

"I'll give it to you just as soon as I'm working. If you'll help me until then."

"I've spent all I'm going to on you," Mamie flared, entirely forgetting or disregarding the fact that Star had given her more than she could spare from the small salary Nina had paid her.

Mamie had worked herself into one of her ugliest moods.

"Look at the money I threw away training you to be a dancer," she almost shouted. "And what did I get for it? Right now, if you really wanted a job, Joe could get one for you. But no, you're too high-hat to work for any of his friends. You're going to be a lady. All right, be one! But don't expect me to help."

Star's face was paler even than usual as she asked, "Would you let me go out of here with only a dime in my pocket?"

"You can stay here if you'll take Joe's advice. He can help you get a job."

"No, thank you!" Star declared passionately.

"Then call Bob. He'll help you even if you don't want to marry him. You've got your nerve," Mamie said raising her voice to the pitch Star knew preceded an outburst, "to come here begging me for money."

Without another word Star turned toward the door. Mamie's voice pursued her.

"There are plenty of things you could do, but you're just too proud to do any of them. After you've gone hungry once, maybe you'll appreciate a man who is crazy to marry you."

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I was just in time, there was no sign of any one in the upper hall, no hint of any unusual happening downstairs, and I tapped on my father's door after reaching the conclusion that the troopers must be putting the man through a preliminary interrogation before bringing him up to "the Chief."

Dicky opened the door—he evidently had been watching for me—My father continued the patently absorbing conversation he was carrying on with the Underwoods.

"I haven't much hope in it," he was saying, "but, of course, we must not pass up a single clue. I would stake much, however, on the necklace still being intact, wherever it is. Ah! Margaret!" He was suddenly aware of me. 'You have the markings?"

"Yes, she just finished them." I said, and gave them to him. He glanced over the markings rapidly, read the appended remarks on the necklace more carefully, and then went back to the markings.

"She is right," he said at last. "These should make identification easy—if the necklace has been broken up. Will you people look at them, please?"

He held out the paper to Lillian, and she took it. Dicky and Harry looking at it over her shoulder. But before they had time to complete their scrutiny, there came the noise of footsteps outside, and then a knock at the door.

"Please wait before you open that," I said quickly, and Dicky obeyed the insistent note in my voice although he, as well as the rest, looked in surprise at me.

"I should have told you, Father, when I came in," I said in hurried explanation. "But there didn't seem to be any opportunity. From my window a few minutes ago I saw something wriggling through the underbrush. I ran downstairs and told one of the troopers—"

My father's voice broke in, stern, almost raucous.

"Why did you go out into the yard? Why did you not summon a trooper inside?"

"I was afraid the man might take alarm and get away," I replied. "When I went out, I pointed in another direction as if I wished the trooper to do something for me away from the house."

The others smiled at me, but there was no smile upon my father's face.

'Did the trooper permit you to stay outside?" he asked, just as the knock upon the door was repeated.

"Presently, presently," he called in an irritated tone, and I hastened to answer his question.

"No, he made me come in," I said, "but I saw what happened from my window. There was a man wriggling through the underbrush, and the troopers caught him. I imagine they are bringing him up here now."

"Thank you," he said simply, and then, raising his voice, he called, "Come in!"

Dicky threw open the door at the word, and into the room filed a formidable looking procession. Evidently the guards were taking no chances. First, a stalwart guard strode into the room, saluted my father and then wheeled to face a second guard behind him who held the underbrush wriggler in a firm grip. Bringing up the rear was the state trooper to whom I had gone with my tale of seeing the intruder.

My father went into action at once crisply to the trooper.

"What did you get out of him?"

"Nothing much, sir," the officer replied. "He said that you had sent for him and that he couldn't talk to anyone else."

My father turned to the man and looked him over with a steady disconcerting stare. But the man did not drop his eyes, only stared back defiantly, and suddenly I felt the stress of something electric and mystifying in the air.

He's Boss of Barons

Coach Bill Cook of the Cleveland Barons is one of the few non-playing mentors who participates in every workout of his hockey team. The former New York Ranger star has been driving his charges hard this week in preparation for an important game Sunday night at the Arena with the Philadelphia Ramblers. The Cleveland icers are fighting to retain a place in the play-offs next month which will give them an opportunity to defend the championship won a year ago.

Garcia Keeps Crown

Filipino Beaten by Armstrong, According to U-P Sheet; 20,000 See Fight.

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Ceferino Garcia today is still the middleweight champion of the world.

Not only that, he is the lucky middleweight champion of the world. He retained his title here last night when Referee George Blake awarded him a draw after ten rounds of fighting with Henry Armstrong, holder of the welterweight crown

* * *

Before a disappointingly small crowd of 20,000, Armstrong, according to the United Press score sheet and the majority of customers, won six rounds and received at least an even break in two more. The champion was able to win only two, the second and the seventh. He was given the fifth by Referee because of Armstrong's butting and low hitting, but even this gift did not draw him anywhere near even with the hustling little colored challenger.

* * *

Armstrong, a former shoe shine boy, put a high polish on the pride of the Philippines most of the way. Knowing that Garcia was only dangerous at long range, where he could wind up, whistle and let fly with his bolo uppercut, Armstrong wisely moved to close quarters, with the opening bell and never was more than one layer of skin away from the champion to the finish.

* * *

He stayed inside, deep inside, and for 10 rounds, threw his flailing fists at the Filipino's face and mid-section until both were raw and bloody.. Garcia finished the fight leaning against the ropes with his mouth wide open and his right eye in the same condition. Save for a lump on his left eye, and slashed lip, Armstrong was as fresh after the bout as when he began it.

* * *

Neither fighter came even close to scoring a knockout, but in the eighth round Armstrong rocked his bigger opponent with a volley of head punches. He delivered these from long range, without advance notice. He suddenly stepped back and let the Filipino have it with both barrels. Garcia staggered but recovered quickly and went into a clinch to end the threat.

Yuncker Rolls 635 Total to Set Pace

THE Moose Home league produced all of the counts of any importance rolled at the Meder alleys last night.

Leo Yuncker of the No. 5 team blasted the uprights for a 635 count to set the individual pace. He accumulated games of 212, 228 and 195.

Brig Young of No. 2 counted a 624 from tilts of 204, 237 and 183, and Ray Friday of No. 7 whipped up a 619, which was climaxed with a 254. Babe Meder of No. 1 was the other 600 roller with a 603.

Reach Finals In Cage Play At Tyger Lair

Bushnell, Western Triumph In Grade School Tourney Semi-Final Tilts.

Bushnell and Western reached the championship finals of the Grade School tournament with victories at Mansfield Senior high last night.

The title game was to be played last night, but no reason for the postponement was given by tourney officials.

* * *

* * *

Bushnell, pre-tourney favorite, smothered Hedges, 34 to 9, at advance, while Western knocked off Carpenter, 17 to 4.

Led by Swank, who scored 10 points, Prospect limited Woodland to a pair of free throws to take a 31 to 2 decision, and Bowman topped Newman, 17 to 12.

Two Indians Selected for Finnish Game

Feller, Keltner Among Players Picked For All-Star Tilt at Tampa.

TAMPA, Fla.—(U.P.)—Two super baseball teams, worth at least a cool $1,000,000 on the hoof, were chosen today to represent the American and National Leagues in an all-star game here March 17 for the benefit of the Finnish relief fund.

The game will be a sort of renewal of World series rivalry, for it will send Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and Joe McCarthy, pilot of the New York Yankees, to the wars against each other again. They will be at the head of the two clubs.

* * *

Forty-six members of the Baseball Writers Association of America chose the teams. Two National League players—Ducky Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Morrie Arnovich of the Philadelphia Phillies were the unanimous choices of the baseball writers. Seven American Leaguers received a perfect score of 46 votes—Bob Feller, Cleveland; Emil Leonard, Washington; Bill Dickey, Yankees; Joe DiMaggio, Yankees; Joe Gordon, Yankees; and Ted Williams, Red Sox.

* * *

If McKechnie and McCarthy start their men according to the votes received, this is the way the team will line up at Plant field:

American	Pos	National
Foxx	1B	Mize
Gordon	2B	Cuccinello
Cronin	SS	Jurges
Keltner	3B	May
DiMaggio	OF	Medwick
Williams	OF	Arnovich
Keller	OF	Ott
Dickey	C	Danning
Feller	P	Walters

Engage Hosts Today

Coach Hoffman Expects Team to Find Blue Streaks Tougher This Time.

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE

6:00—Mansfield vs. Sandusky.
7:15—Ashland vs. Port Clinton.
8:30—Shelby vs. Bellevue.
9:45—Fremont vs. Norwalk.

MANSFIELD high cagers will make their first defense of the district championship on the Sandusky court today when they tangle with the host Blue Streaks at 6 p. m.

The Tygers, who have an "in-and-out" complex, have no easy task awaiting them in Sandusky as the Streaks have made an impressive comeback in recent weeks.

* * *

Coach Vern Hoffman's men defeated Sandusky by a one-sided margin early this season, but the Tyger tactician regards the Streaks as being stronger than when they first met.

* * *

If the Tygers get past Sandusky, their troubles will just be starting. The next opponent would be Fremont, which is considered more seriously than them in the tourney ratings.

The Tygers are in perfect shape for their test, and should win if they're 'on."

The Mansfield-Sandusky meeting is one of four games on tonight's program. Ashland and Port Clinton will tangle in the second game at 7.15 while Shelby will face Bellevue at 8.30. The last game at 9:45 will send Fremont against Tiffin Jr. Order.

Bellevue trimmed Tiffin Columbian, 44 to 21; Tiffin Junior Order walloped Norwalk, 42 to 30, and Fremont Ross outpointed Willard, 41 to 35, in opening games played last night.

* * *

The favored Little Giants came through as expected, but they were forced to stave off a Willard rally in the final period to triumph.

The Junior Order cagers fashioned the only upset of the night when they trimmed Norwalk. The Tiffin club won only three games during the regular season.

Lexington Gets Test At Carey

Lexington high's first test in a sectional Class B tournament since 1932 will become a reality at 7:30 p. m. today when it faces Fostoria St. Wendelin in an opening round game at Carey high.

Bellville, Richland county's other entry in the sectional meet, performs in its second tilt by tackling Ada at 9:30. p. m. North Robinson and Tiffin Calvert meet in the middle game at 8:30 p. m.

Should the clubs emerge victorious they return next week. Lexington will play Bluffton at 9 p. m. Thursday, and Bellville will meet the winner of the North Robinson-Calvert game at 8:30 p. m. Friday. The championship finals will be held at 9 p. m. Saturday.

In first round contests played last night, Carey edged Salem, 21 to 20, Bettsville stopped Rawson, 42 to 19, and Bluffton beat Chatfield, 54 to 45. Chatfield is the Crawford county champion.

Kenyon Favored To Retain Title

BOWLING GREEN—(AP)—Kenyon college entered finals of the fifth annual Ohio Conference swimming meet here today favored to retain its title.

The Gambier Lords piled up 12 points during yesterday's preliminaries, which saw two Conference records bettered and another tied. Oberlin and Wooster, with 10 points apiece, were tied for second place as the finals opened.

Stewart of Kent State splashed off the 220-yard free style event in 2.28.3 to better the Conference record of 2:28.5 set by Vinnedge of Kenton last year. Griffin of Kenyon won the 150-yard back stroke in 1:40.8 to clip .2 off his 1939 Conference mark and Tanner of Kenyon equaled his 1939 record of 1:35.7 in the 200-yard breast stroke.

"Woods and Waters"

By

YUNCKER BROS.

Our black squirrel (still common in some places) isn't a distinct species — merely a color phrase of the gray squirrel! Blacks and grays occur in the same litter, just as red and gray screech owls are found in the same brood.

* * *

If you catch an eel inland, it's a female, for males never go far above tidewater. Females sometimes become landlocked and, unable to return to the ocean to breed, attain great size and age. Record in captivity is 37 years.

* * *

The surest way to tell the difference between a large mouth and small mouth bass: In the large mouth the upper jaw extends back of the eye; in the small mouth it does not. Also, the scales of the small mouth are smaller, so the number of rows on the cheeks are greater than on the large mouth. The count runs around 10 for the largemouth and 17 for the smallmouth.

* * *

No longer is the lowly woodchuck considered a pest — at least in Pennsylvania. That state recently gave the groundhog legal protection and established a daily bag limit for his hunters. Woodchuck hide makes excellent shoelaces, moccasins, whip-lashes and similar articles His greatest value, however, is his habit of digging weatherproof dens that are used later by rabbits, skunks, raccoons and other animals. So he does his part to conserve his more valuable fur bearing brethren.

* * *

Mountain goats, with their black horns and hoofs and white fleece, make a magnificent sight when silhouetted against some lofty crag. They are very difficult to approach. When a hunter spots a goat, the chances are the animal has been watching him for some time, and once alarmed, ten minutes is enough for him to put many hours of arduous climbing between himself and the hunter.

By the time the first of March rolls around, most anglers have begun to give thought to Spring fishing, and the things they'll need for it. Many new things are arriving every day at Yuncker's and now is a good time to come in and look over the new stocks of rods, reels, lines, lures, etc.

Field trials, Lucas Beagle club, will be held at the Verne Ritchie farm, on Upper Lucas Road Sunday, March 3, starting at 8 a. m. Fifty per cent of the entry fee paid back to winning dogs, and blue ribbons will be awarded to placed dogs.

Seabiscuit Holds Eye

By RUSS NEWLAND

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The horse that wasn't supposed to come back is back for another crack at the world's richest racing stake and so today Seabiscuit makes his third bid for gold and glory in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

* * *

Will the third time prove the charm for this 7-year-old son of Hard Tack? Will this one-time $2,500 selling plater reach the coveted goal of becoming the record money winner of the turf?

* * *

Clattering hooves will carve the answers to these questions over a mile and a quarter on Santa Anita's famed racing strip late today.

Only a year ago in a prep for the big race, Seabiscuit ran his heart out in a contest that cloaked his backers in gloom. His breakdown was a blow only a little less catastrophic than had he suffered an accident necessitating his destruction.

At that time he was within striking distance of Sun Beau's all-time money winning total of $376,744. Seabiscuit apparently had reached the end of his speed trail.

* * *

He's defied time and trouble. A year after he was led from the track with a ruptured suspensory ligament, the pride of the C. S. Howard stable was back in silks. In his first race last month he ran third. A sixth place finish followed and last Saturday he galloped down the stretch in old time form to win handily, meanwhile tying the track record for a mile and a sixteenth in 1:42 2-5.

* * *

More than 70,000 fans made the track their mecca today for the sixth running of the handicap. Most of them were Seabiscuit rooters, hoping to see the bay horse climax a spectacular career.

Becker, Marino To Don Gloves Monday Night

'Bull' Accepts Challenge to Box on Next Week's Grapple Card.

George Becker of New York, evidently, misjudged his fellow-townsman and arch-enemy, "Bull" Marino, when he stated that Marino would not agree to meet him in a bona fide 10-round fight with the gloves.

* * *

In fact, Becker sorely misjudged the "Walloping Wop" for Marino not only has accepted Becker's offer to a fist fight but he wants to fight Becker winner take all of the purse.

* * *

Contacted yesterday by Matchmaker Tim Nolan after Becker had rejected another wrestling match with Marino but offered to fight him the New York Italian literally jumped at the chance to fight Becker.

Marino is still fairly sizzling because of his disqualification here last Monday in a match with Becker, who won the match, when Referee Miller raised his hand while both Becker and the referee were outside the ring, both having been deposited there by the enraged Marino.

* * *

Contracts have now been signed by both men and they will meet on next Monday night in the Armory in a 10-round fight with the gloves.

* * *

Marino also took another verbal broadside at Referee Miller. "It is too bad Miller isn't a fight referee for I'd like to get him in that ring for at least a few minutes so I could lay one on his whiskers too" the Italian lad spouted.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Beaver. By Harold Gray

DON'T WORRY! I'LL STAY IN TH' HOUSE--- AND I WON'T GO STANDIN' BY TH' WINDOW, EITHER - YOU CAN BET ON THAT-
IT WILL BE ONLY A DAY OR TWO - I'VE GOT THE POLICE ON THE JOB - THEY'LL BAG "AXEL" ANY HOUR NOW--
3-2 40
SO! THE POLICE! LET THEM QUESTION MY WATCHMAN - OLD IVAN IS CLEVER - HERE I AM SECURE WHILE MY OPERATIVES TRACK DOWN THE BRAT AND BRING HER TO ME-
KIND OF A LONESOME JOB, IVAN, WATCHIN' THIS SPOOKY OLD HOUSE BY TH' RIVER-
AH, YES - ONLY THE GHOSTS AND OLD MAN - BUT IT IS A LIVING. THIS WATCHING AN EMPTY HOUSE, EH?
HEY! MIKE! TH' WHISKERS! IT'S HIM!
A-R-R-R-GOTCHA! IT'S HIM, ALL RIGHT - SEE THAT POINTED BEARD?
THINK YE CAN FOOL US WITH THAT PUSH CART, EH? C'MON, AXEL - NO TRICKS!

PRICES SLANT DOWNWARD IN BRIEF SESSION

Utilities Hold Attention After Commission Seeks Reports of Three Companies.

* * *

Attention was forcibly called to the position of utilities issues by the Securities and Exchange Commission which has issued show-cause orders against three of the largest power and light firms, asking them why they haven't simplified and re-integrated themselves geographically in compliance with the law.

* * *

The $500,000,000 Middle West corporation was named by the commission, which already had called on Electric Bond and Share company and Engineers Public Service company to appear for hearings in April.

First public reaction was a sell-off of utilities stocks in yesterday's market.

THEATERS

Joan And Clark.

COMPLETELY off the beaten track of accustomed film fare, "Strange Cargo," story of a group of desperadoes who escape a tropical prison, opens today at the Ohio theater, with Clark Gable and Joan Crawford, co-starred. The film delves into the lives and thoughts of nine men and a girl who make a getaway from a South American penal colony and strike through hitherto impassible jungle to reach a haven. In the supporting cast are Ian Hunter, Peter Lorre, Paul Lukas and Albert Dekker.

* * *

Comedy Romance.

Bandit trouble among the cocoa growers of a small Central American country is the reason "The Marines Fly High" in the adventurous action drama of that name co-starring Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Lucille Ball. This and "Remember the Night" will be the features at the Madison theater beginning today. A story of a district attorney who falls in love with a girl he's trying to send to prison, is presented in the latter picture. Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck play the leading roles.

* * *

Tropical Setting.

A drama whose picturesque setting in the tropical Andes Mountains of South America lends increased credence and vividness to a tale of adventure and romance, "Only Angels Have Wings," which opens Sunday at the Majestic theater. Cary Grant and Jean Arthur are co-starred in this narrative of human passion against a background of tropical tempests and snow-capped peaks. "Two Thoroughbreds," starring Jimmy Lydon and Joan Brodel, is the second feature showing there.

* * *

Marx Bros. Caper.

Florence Rice is chased all over the landscape by those three mad Marxians—Groucho, Harpo and Chico, in the film, "Marx Bros. at the Circus," which is showing at the Ritz theater. Her role is that of the star equestrienne of the circus, the trainer of a troupe of horses and as Kenny Baker's sweetheart. Dorothy Lamour, Akim Tamiroff and John Howard have the leading roles in the story "Disputed Passage" which is the second feature at the Ritz.

* * *

Six-Year-Old Star.

Rollicking romance and spectacular ice ballets are combined in "Everything On Ice," the screen Irene Dare, six-year-old beauty ac- spectacle which introduces little claimed as an outstanding juvenile ice skater. This is one of the features at the Park theater beginning Sunday. Irene is seen as the principal performer in the floor show at a lavish night club in Palm Beach. Here she leads a series of ice dances at the head of forty of Hollywood's most expert professionals. The second feature is "Money to Burn," starring James, Lucille and Russell Gleason.
